PEN ARGYL PLANT DESTROYED — Firemen pour streams of water into plant of Scotty's Fashions, located just outside of Pen Argyl in Plainfield Township, which was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin last night. Firemen from four departments were still at the scene four hours later.

Senate Passes Pension Bill; JFK Expected To Use Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tempers flared in the Senate Friday over a threat by Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., to block early adjournment of Congress to prevent pocket veto by President Kennedy of the self-employed pension bill.

Smathers touched off the angry exchange with fellow Democratic leaders shortly after the Senate passed the long-debated, much-revised measure to permit self-employed persons to set up tax deductible pension funds. The 70-9 roll-call vote sent it to the President, who has not said what he will do but has hinted at a possible veto.

In the heated exchange, Democratic Leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana appealed to Smathers not to try this dilatory tactic and not to "hold a stiletto at the throat of the President of the United States."

Smathers objected to Mansfield's words, declaring "No man in the Senate has more affection for the President than I do." Smathers is a friend of Kennedy and was a member of his wedding party, but has disagreed with him on some issues.

Mansfield protested that Smathers was placing the leadership in an embarrassing and untenable position. Later, he said he would withdraw his remark about the stiletto.

He commented that Smathers, as secretary of the Senate Democratic Conference, has been most helpful as part of the leadership. Smathers finally agreed to let the Senate go ahead with its plan to take up a public works bill Saturday with the understanding that the congressional leaders would sound up Kennedy's attitude toward the pension plan at their regular meeting with him on Tuesday.

JFK Is Concerned

Kennedy has said he will study the self-employed pension bill carefully but indicated he might veto it and reconsider the proposal next year as part of his tax overhaul plan. Kennedy said he is concerned about the estimated $115-million-a-year revenue loss the bill would create.

Police Investigate Death Of 18-Month-Old Child

LEBANON, Pa. (AP) — The Lebanon County district attorney's office reported Friday it is investigating the death of an 18-month-old child whose body was thrown into the Schuylkill River.

A spokesman for District Attorney Alvin B. Lewis Jr., said his office is looking into the death of the stepdaughter of John Kulpa, 25, of Schaefferstown.

Meanwhile, Montgomery County authorities said at Norristown that Kulpa admitted in a signed statement that he wrapped the child, Cathy, in a burial bag, weighted the bag with a 35-pound tire iron and dumped it into the river at Norristown.

Then he told police the child was missing, touching off an all-night search that ended when the body was recovered Friday morning.

Kulpa was held pending further investigation. He was quoted as saying he believed the child was dead of natural causes and he panicked. Kulpa denied killing the child.

Montgomery County officials said Kulpa and the child's mother, Myrtle Smith, were married last June.

Dr. John C. Simpson, Montgomery County coroner, said the child died of a brain injury and multiple contusions of face and body. He said there was no evidence of drowning. He said the child evidently had been dead about 24 hours.

'Flash' Helped Save 48 Crash Survivors

ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — The ditched Flying Tiger airliner's captain, John D. Murray, told Friday how a mental flash sent him back into the foundering plane's cabin for a flashlight — the torch that helped save 48 Americans from death in the Atlantic.

The story came out at the climax of the rescue on the Antwerp docks where the Swiss freighter Celerina put 27 survivors ashore five days after they were picked up at sea following the crash of their superconstellation. Earlier, 21 others had been landed in Ireland. Twenty-eight were counted as missing and presumed dead.

Fears And Anxieties
Murray, of Oyster Bay, N.Y., and veteran of 24 years' flying, occasionally fingered a bandage on his cut head as, in a measured voice, he recounted the fears and anxieties of the drama.

The trouble started, he said, at 21,000 feet over the Atlantic late Sunday.

"I got a fire warning on No. 3 engine. I shut it down, feathered the prop, and shot a bottle of fire extinguisher into it. Eight minutes later an overspeed condition developed in the No. 1 propeller. Then No. 2 went out and I knew we had to ditch."

After ditching, Murray went back into the cabin and saw all his passengers leave through the emergency exits.

"Then I had an inspiration. I went back to the cockpit for the flashlight. By this time the water there was waist deep. No one else was in the plane. I got out and pulled the discharge lever to get out the life rafts. Then I was swept into the sea."

After swimming 10 minutes he saw a raft. People helped him in. "Then it began to add up. A paratrooper, Joe E. Hofer, asked if anyone had a flashlight. The raft was so crowded it took me several minutes to get it out because of the people on my lap. "Hofer—that boy's a real hero—used it to flash the plane which pinpointed our position. It circled so low that at times they had us in their landing lights."

The same torch brought the rescue ship Celerina. Murray said the Celerina's captain did a magnificent job in swinging the big ship right up to the life raft.

The pilot said it was his first ditching.

"I've had no trouble like this before. But I'll certainly fly again."

Carol Ann Gould of Lyndhurst, N.J., the only survivor among the four stewardesses, told how she took off her slip to stop the blood flowing from a head wound suffered by George Brown, a young paratrooper.

She said Brown hauled 10 people aboard the raft despite his injuries.

U. S. Accused Of Cuban-Bait Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki accused the United States Friday of following an extremely dangerous policy toward Cuba. He also denounced the West German government as "the most stubborn and aggressive cold war force in the West."

The Communist diplomat made the charges in a policy speech to the 108-nation U.N. General Assembly.

He declared the Cuban people have the same right to live under communism as the American people do under capitalism.

He said Communist states in Europe live as neighbors with capitalist states and added: "Poland and other Socialist countries maintain friendly relations not only with neutral states but develop normal and sometimes good relations also with a number of countries—members of NATO. We want to maintain such relations and develop them further."

Uphold Cuba

He said Cuba is neither threatening nor is in a position to threaten the United States or anyone else.

Rapacki made no mention of Soviet bloc shipments to Cuba, nor did he refer to the statement of the Soviet Union that a U.S. attack on Cuba would mean war.

His bitterest words were directed against West Germany and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He charged that Adenauer, skillfully using the dreams of glory cherished by French President Charles de Gaulle, was presenting his major North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies with a challenge for authority over all Western Europe.

Rapacki called for a peace treaty with both West and East Germany with West Berlin transformed from a frontier city and military base into a free demilitarized city.

He made only a passing reference to the Communist China representation issue, but another Communist speaker, Foreign Minister Behar Shitylla of Albania dealt at length with the subject. "Albania reaffirms its solidarity with Communist China in all respects," he declared.

Pen Argyl Textile Plant Is Destroyed By Blaze

PEN ARGYL — Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed Scotty's Fashions, a textile cutting operation, in Plainfield Township near Weona Park, just outside of the borough, shortly after 6 p.m. yesterday. The loss was estimated at upwards to $30,000.

Firemen from four departments battled the blaze for more than three hours before bringing it under control. The roof of the $3 by 50 foot concrete block and plaster building collapsed at 7:30 p.m.

Bangor Fire Dept. received the alarm at 6:40 p.m. and dispatched Liberty Fire Co. and Second Ward Fire Co. to the scene. They were joined by Wind Gap, Roseto and Plainfield Fire Cos. in fighting the blaze.

The Pen Argyl department was last to be called and assisted in supplying water by pumping out the swimming pool at the Pen Argyl park and by hooking hose lines to fire hydrants in the area of Pen Argyl nearest to the blaze. There are no hydrants in the vicinity of the plant.

The fire, which apparently started in the rear of the building, was confined to the interior of the structure until the roof collapsed.

Firemen Handicapped
Firemen were handicapped in battling the blaze by dense smoke and wind gusts approaching gale force.

The dense smoke was attributed to the fact that the building was full of material waiting to be cut. It employs about 60 persons.

The firm is owned and operated by Emelio Scott of Pen Argyl and provides a cutting department for the seven textile mills which it operates and about 12 other contractors.

It was believed the loss was completely covered by insurance. Scott, his wife and family were having dinner in the Albion House here when residents in the vicinity of the plant notified them of the fire.

Drought Aid For Monroe

(Special To The Daily Record)

WASHINGTON — Rep. Francis E. Walter last night expressed his satisfaction that Secretary Orville Freeman had declared all the counties in his congressional district eligible for available government owned feed grain at reduced prices to supplement feed shortages caused by severe drought.

Monroe, Northampton, Carbon and Pike counties have been listed among the counties in Pennsylvania to receive this support from the Secretary of Agriculture.

The department announcement said:

"Under today's action eligible farmers in the 49 counties can purchase up to a 90-day feed allowance at one time. Corn will be the feed grain used in this case."

"The Secretary also assured eligible farmers in these counties that the feed grain will continue to be made available until the emergency is ended."

"For this reason, no termination date will be set until the end of the emergency can be clearly determined. Such termination normally is established to coincide with the availability of feed in the next crop season."

"The counties designated in which this livestock feed assistance is being made available to eligible farmers include Northampton, Monroe, Carbon and Pike counties."

Lightning Knocks Out Area Power

VIOLENT lightning and thunderstorms hit the Pocono Mountains last night, knocking out power in the Mt. Pocono, Pocono Lake and Tobyhanna regions.

The storm was the aftermath of Thursday and yesterday's rainfall which sprang gales over many parts of Monroe County.

More than three inches of rain was dumped on the Pocono the past two days. The harsh winds and rain is expected to taper off today. The storms are part of a front which dumped tropical weather along the Eastern Seaboard.

Gov. Barnett Cited For Shun Of Court

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday held Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi in civil contempt for blocking desegregation at the University of Mississippi.

The court gave the Governor until 11 a.m. (CST) Tuesday to purge himself of the contempt.

If he does not comply by that time, the court ordered that he be committed to the custody of the U.S. attorney general and fined $10,000 a day until he complies.

The court defined compliance as (1) ceasing all resistance to the orders of the federal courts for desegregation and (2) maintaining law and order at the Ole

Miss campus and cooperating with officers and agents of the federal courts.

At Jackson, Miss., the governor sent word to newsmen by a secretary that he was unavailable for comment on the court's action.

The court cited the last two turnbacks of Meredith—one personally by Barnett last Tuesday barely hours after the court ordered him not to interfere, and another the next day by Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson acting "under the authorization of . . . Barnett."

Johnson himself faces a contempt hearing here Saturday as a result of his action.

The court cited the two instances when the governor, in defiance of federal court orders, personally turned back James H. Meredith, 29-year-old Negro, from enrolling at the all-white university.

Three of the eight judges who sat in on the one-day hearing—Walter Gwin of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Griffin Bell of Atlanta, Ga.; and Warren L. Jones of Jacksonville, Fla.—dissented from the portion of the ruling imposing a fine.

The 64-year-old governor, who had been ordered last Tuesday to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt, was not present at the hearing which opened at 10 a.m. Meredith attended but did not testify.

The court's ruling followed recommendations made by the Department of Justice at the close of the three-hour hearing.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People asked that Barnett be required to purge himself by 10 a.m. Saturday or be placed in custody of the attorney general. The NAACP did not ask that the governor be fined.

The Justice Department had promised to enforce any sanctions—fines or a jail term—if the appellate court held Barnett in contempt for keeping Meredith out of the school.

At one point, chief Judge Elbert Tuttle of Atlanta, Ga., commented that it seemed to him "this court has practically exhausted its power in these circumstances." Another time he said: "No one knows better than the executive branch that the court orders have not been enforced."

Twice Barnett himself turned back Meredith and federal marshals carrying court orders declaring that segregation at Ole Miss must end.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall told the court in closing arguments that it should hold Barnett in contempt—and should set penalties—but should wait a few days, perhaps until late Monday or Tuesday, to impose sanctions.

This way, said Marshall, the governor would have a chance to rescind what he's done—to revoke his proclamation of interposition, to remove himself from Meredith's path, to call off any orders for resistance by force.

Railroad Strike Is Ended

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy announced settlement Friday night of the 30-day telegraphers' strike against the Chicago and North Western Railway. The railroad said trains will be rolling again over its 10,600 miles of track within a few days.

The strike-ending agreement, engineered by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and federal mediator Francis A. O'Neill Jr., sent to arbitration four unsettled issues, including key questions on elimination of jobs by the railroad.

The three arbitrators to be named within 24 hours by the union, the railroad and by agreement between the two, are to hand down their binding decision within 10 days.

Harvest-Time Strike
The harvest-time strike on the nine-state Chicago and North Western was the first handled by Wirtz as secretary of labor since he took over from Arthur J. Goldberg late in August.

The 1,000 members of the AFL-CIO Order of Railroad Telegraphers walked off their jobs Aug. 30 in a dispute that hinged on job elimination procedures.

Railroad Chairman Ben W. Heineman said: "We would hope that the freight trains would commence operation as promptly as possible, certainly within the next day or so." He said commuter service would be restored in time for the Monday morning rush hour. Through passenger service will resume "in a day or two or three," as soon as tracks have been inspected, Heineman said.

Agreement came after five days of talks on a dispute over back-to-work arrangements that derailed negotiations at the last minute.

Barcelona Starts Rescue Operations

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Leaders of the massive rescue operation in the wake of Barcelona's floods disaster indicated Friday the death toll might exceed 800.

Latest figures said 473 bodies had been recovered but additional victims were being reported found every few minutes.

Rescuers said there was little hope of finding any of the 400 persons still missing in Tarasoa, Sabadell and Rubi, three hard hit textile towns.

Having buried their dead, the inhabitants returned to the grim task of seeking the missing among the massive piles of rubble and thick mud piled up by flash floods Wednesday.

Senate Unit Okays Tocks Study Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sum of $300,000 for planning the multi-million dollar Tocks Island dam on the Delaware River was approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee Friday.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., made this known ahead of the committee's report. It approved by Congress, this would be the first federal money allotted for the dam between Pennsylvania and New Jersey upstream from the Delaware Water Gap.

The project is the largest in the Delaware River Basin Commission's extensive plan for development of the river regions in Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and New York.

Other appropriations approved include $4,500,000 to continue deepening of the Delaware River between Philadelphia and Trenton; $750,000 to rehabilitate the main dikes along the Delaware River at Philadelphia; and $300,000 to enlarge Delaware River anchorages below Philadelphia.

Zion Church Observes 100th Anniversary

BY JAMES D. SHAFER
Daily Record Reporter

WITHOUT A doubt a major factor that made the United States the great country it is today is religion, and so it was with 100 people in a section of Monroe County once called "Shafers and or Shaffer Post office."

The name of the settlement was later changed to Brodheadsville to honor a leading family from that area.

In this small community the desire and need for a church was seen and the 100 people pledged $825 to erect "A House of God." Most of them pledged money for the construction, but there were several who pledged, in addition to money, labor, material and hauling.

Later there were additional subscribers, making the total number 349 persons and raised the total subscriptions to $2,410.15. However, at the time of the dedication $2,095.45 had been paid on the building toward the total cost of $2,850.60.

Church Site
The site for the church was valued at $90 and was a part of the property owned by Rudolph Weiss. Weiss donated the land as his contribution to the enterprise. He also served on the building committee.

Actual work on the building began in the spring of 1861. It was at this time the cornerstone was laid. Officiating at the ceremony was the Rev. George Greenwald, from a Lutheran Church in Easton.

The building was planned locally and workmen on the job were from the area.

Masons on the project received $1 per day, carpenters 90 cents, and laborers 60 to 75 cents per day. Each workman received an additional 30 cents per day for board.

In reviewing an original record of the church dated April 1, 1866, cost of material is mentioned. "Lumber used for scaffolds cost $3 and $4 per thousand feet; white pine shingles cost $7 per thousand; Hemlock planks cost from $5 to $9 per thousand, and rafters sold for $9 to $10 per thousand feet."

In 1862 the Civil War was beginning to be felt in the area. Many of the subscribers were unable to make their payments. In lieu of the money pledges, men began contributing their labor, materials, and some living space to the workers.

Dedicated
Dedication of the church was May 4, 1862. At this time there remained a $600 debt. Judge C. D. Brodhead offered a $500 loan without interest. The loan was repaid 20 years later.

The first service of record was held November 23, 1862. It was Holy Communion and 24 people participated in the communion.

The original constitution of the church, recorded in the original record book, was not dated but named the church, "Zion's Evangelical Lutheran Congregation of Brodheadsville, Monroe County, Pennsylvania."

The first pastor was the Rev. Henry Seifert, then pastor of the Hamilton Square and Bartonville Churches.

Other pastors to serve the church as Lutheran ministers were: Rev. Joseph R. Focht, 1869-1874; Rev. George Roth, 1874-1882; Rev. Richard Henry Clare, 1882-1892; Rev. Cyrus E. Held, 1892-1895; Rev. Charles W. T. Strasser, 1895-1940; Rev. Norman Kellow, 1941-1946; Rev. James G. Shannon, 1947-1951; Rev. John B. Bergstresser, 1951-1956, and Rev. Robert T. Zuch, 1956 to present.

The Reformed congregation was officially organized in 1862.

Serving as pastors for the Reformed Church were: the Revs. Charles Becker (1862-1865), George B. Dechant (1865-1870), D. E. Schoedier (1870-1875), T. A. Huber (1875-1885), John Kretzing (1886-1889), S. F. Laury (1889-1906), George K. Ely (1910-1919), Seward Kresge (1920-1926), and the present pastor, Rev. Adan Bohner, began his pastorate in June, 1926.

From 1906 to 1910 there was no regular pastor and the Rev. Floyd Shafer acted as supply.

Many more facts, figures and incidents could be set forth, but had it not been for a group of people with the desire to worship God in a building dedicated to him, the Zion United Church, Brodheadsville, would not be celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

Monroe County residents should be proud, not only of these people in the west end of the county but of all the early settlers, who gave of their time, money and worldly goods so that there would be places of worship.

Guest Speaker
REV. Willard F. Carney will be the guest speaker at services Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. in Mount Zion Interdenominational Church.

He will also be the speaker at services each night at 7:30 p. m.

Bishop Makes Annual Visit

SUNDAY, The Right Reverend Frederick J. Warnecke, Bishop of the Diocese of Bethlehem, will make his annual visitation to the Trinity Episcopal Church, Mount Pocono.

At the 10:30 a. m. service the Bishop will preach, confirm new members, and celebrate Holy Communion.

The service will mark the end of 10 weeks of intensive preparation on the part of the candidates for confirmation and the beginning of full membership and participation in the Church.

Catholic Laymen Desire Bigger Church Role

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Indications are widespread today that Roman Catholic laymen want a more influential role in their church.

In some instances, they're already achieving it, to a degree. But they may get even fuller responsibilities, on a broad basis, if the Second Vatican Council, opening Oct. 11 in Rome, gives sanction to the rising voice of the faithful in America.

The council should make clear, says Catholic book publisher Philip Scharper of New York, "that the lay person is not only in the front lines of the church but is the church."

"The lay person should have a voice in some of the councils within the church," he says. This view has been sounded increasingly, and widely, in Catholic lay rank. Many Catholic theologians have also urged such changes.

The Rev. John Walsh of Weston College, Mass., has urged that the council authorize popular lay election of diocesan bishops, with the choices subject to papal approval.

This would benefit the church and further Christian unity, he says, noting that it was the system used in early-day Christianity.

"Somehow, we Catholics must reaffirm the prophetic mission, and the priestly, of all members of the church in practice as we have always maintained in doctrine," says the Rev. Robert Hovda of the Catholic University of America.

In the upsurge of the new lay emphasis in Catholicism, the phrase, "priesthood of the laity" has come into common churchly use.

It parallels one of the maxims of Protestantism, "the priesthood of all believers," but it stems basically from the New Testament epistles of Peter and Paul.

"The clergy," says Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal, "have to make an act of confidence in the lay members of the church and show themselves willing to adapt to the demands of the common good."

Lait and clergy, he says, must work out some form of "healthy collaboration."

Evidence that laymen want such adjustments has shown up in numerous studies. The latest was a survey of 2,000 American Catholics by the current issue of the church magazine, Eucharist, concerning lay hopes for the Vatican council.

Among the main findings: Laymen decidedly want "more active roles in the liturgy, in education and in the forming of church policy"; 89 per cent favor better channels for making lay views known to the hierarchy; 84 per cent favor some consultative role in church administration.

Liturgical reform is favored by most laymen, with 71 per cent urging partial use of English in the Mass and 88 per cent urging more attention to central Christian doctrines rather than peripheral devotions, and more stress on the Bible.

Parson To Parson

By Rod G. MacLeod

WANT to know what's going on inside Cuba? Major H. G. Baker of the Salvation Army informed me of the following incident.

When the S.A. was forced to retreat from Cuba the Castro forces took charge of the children that the "Army" had been instructing. The children were told, "Pray to God and ask Him for candy."

The children did, and waited for the next command.

"You see!" said Castro's men "You prayed to your God for some candy and still you do not have any candy. Now pray to Fidel Castro!"

Once again the little ones prayed, this time to Castro, and asked him for candy.

The "Amen" was just about said when there came a knock at the door and girls dressed in pure white dresses entered bearing armloads of candy and assorted sweets.

"There you are!" shouted Castro's men "You prayed to Castro and he heard you, and sent you candy right away!"

Thus, the "brainwash" of the young children begins. The God of love is mocked. They are now taught that there is no God, only the state can help them.

Communism is trying with untiring effort to make belief in God very unpopular, not only in its own area but in all the world! The day may come that those who profess the Lord will face persecution and death. Today's Christian population would take a very drastic drop should this ever come to pass.

I doubt that many of us would have the strength of faith that the early Christian martyrs showed. Too many would take the easy way out and worship the idol of whatever "ism" dictated them to.

Now is the time to make our faith strong. How will one withstand the onslaught of atheism unless he is sure of what he believes?

Should the time ever come that church and Sunday School attendance was outlawed many would wring their hands and cry. Yet these same people do not attend Sunday services now.

In such times as these one cannot foretell what may or may not happen. Anything can happen—at any time!

Lets us take advantage of attending the church of our choice every Sunday—while we are still able to do so. Then, when adversity comes we will have the courage and strength to stand up to it as bold as a rock. This strength comes not from within us, but from the Lord God!

Bible School To Be Conducted

MRS. ELSIE Keiper Durland will conduct weekday Bible classes in various points of the area.

The schedule is Monday, after school, in the Portland Methodist Church; Tuesday, 4 to 4:45 p. m., Beakleyville Baptist Church; Wednesday, after school, in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church; Friday, Franklin Hill Bible Fellowship Church, 7:30 to 8:30 p. m.

On Thursday, Oct. 11, in the Zion United Church of Christ, after school.

MYF Cabinet To Make

EAST Stroudsburg Methodist Church Youth Fellowship cabinet will meet Sunday at 6:30 a. m.

Following the candlelight ceremonies refreshments will be served.

A spokesman for the organization announced that Thursday, Oct. 18, there will be a chicken dinner for the MYF, and on Nov. 3, a hay ride has been planned.

vival, which is scheduled to end Sunday night, has been very unusual. It has been unusual in that each night a different minister preached. When concluded, the number of preachers used will be 11 including the pastor.

The schedule of services Sunday in the First Pentecostal Assembly of God, Stroudsburg, is 9:45 a. m.; Sunday school, 10:50 a. m.; worship service, 6:30 p. m.; and 7:30 p. m., evangelistic services.

Homecoming Services

THE Annual Homecoming services and festivities are to be observed in the Kellersville Methodist Church on Sunday at 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Musical selections for both services are to be offered by Louis Steen, a baritone soloist, plus the Cherry Valley Quartet comprised of Albert F. Bubel, John S. Bubel, Richard H. Scott and Rev. David L. Fife.

A fellowship meal will be served in the church at 5:30 p. m. by the WSCS.

Pay Hikes For Bridge Employees

THE Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission yesterday granted a $240 a year cost-of-living salary increase to all employees working on toll bridges operated by the commission. The increase is to be effective next Wednesday.

The proposal was advanced by Guy J. Swope, chairman of the commission's personnel committee and was seconded by Commissioner Herman Shotwell of Blairstown, a committee member.

Swope explained that only employees of the toll bridges will get the increase because funds for the free bridges budget are provided by the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania and their concurrence would be required. He also noted that the free bridges employees received an earlier increase which was not shared by the toll bridges workers.

Portland Garage
The commission also decided to construct a one-story brick and block addition to its maintenance garage in Portland. The project was proposed earlier this year but was abandoned. The building will be constructed by the maintenance department of the commission.

The feasibility of drilling a well for drinking water purposes at the Delaware Water Gap bridges will be studied.

Monroe Firemen Urged To Register For School

ED SOMERS, director of Monroe County Fire School, last night urged all area firemen to register for the fire school before Monday. Somers reminded firemen that registration blanks are available from any fire chief or one may be had by contacting him at 421-2100.

The school will be held Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 13 and 14, in the West End Fire Company, Broadheadsville.

Some of the courses to be offered are radiological, propane, and pit fires. There will also be ladder work and other phases of fire fighting.

Somers also announced that the auxiliary of the West End Fire Co. will serve meals on the days of school.

Sen. Hugh Scott Injured In Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., suffered a sprained left arm in an automobile accident Tuesday night, an aide reported yesterday.

The aide said the car, driven by a friend, unexpectedly passed into a "pocket of fog" on U. S. 30 about six miles east of McConnellsburg, Pa., and ran off the road and into a culvert.

The report said the car was pulled back onto the road, and was able to finish the trip to Washington under its own power.

The aide said no one else was injured, and he did not know the name of the driver. The senator, who had been around the Senate earlier in the day showing no visible sign of injury, was not immediately available.

The aide said the injury to Scott was not serious. He said the senator was not admitted to a hospital, and an X-ray examination Wednesday showed no bone damage but a sprain.

Price Case Goes To Jury Today

THE CASE of Miss Edna Mae Price, 32, of 75 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, charged with shooting two women in her apartment last June 3, will go to a jury of eight men and four women in Monroe County Court at 10 a.m. today.

Judge James Rutherford of Wayne County, assisting Judge Fred W. Davis, will charge the jury when court resumes this morning.

Highlighting yesterday's session was a dramatic appearance on the witness stand by the defendant and summations of the defense and commonwealth cases.

Judge Rutherford had originally intended to charge the jury and turn the case over to them yesterday, but changed his mind due to the lateness of the hour.

Philip Williams, one of Miss Price's three court-appointed attorneys, summarizing for the defense urged the jury to consider her mental condition at the time of the shooting.

He contended that Miss Price purchased the .22 caliber revolver used in the shooting with the intention of committing suicide.

He cited notes introduced by the commonwealth to support his contention of a suicide intent.

"Rational Mind"
Williams also asked the jury whether the statements attributed to Miss Price after the shooting could be from a "rational mind."

He charged that the commonwealth had failed to prove that the shooting was malicious, unlawful and willful, referring to the testimony of Miss Irene Masten, 30, of 77 Second St., Stroudsburg, one of the victims, to the effect that Miss Price waved the gun around in her hand prior to the shooting.

Williams also contended that Miss Price was dazed, emotionally upset and partially drunk at the time.

Dist. Atty. James R. Marsh told the jury that Miss Price had threatened to shoot Miss Sophie Achtermann, 36, also of the Stroudsburg address and the other victim of the shooting, as early as February or March of this year.

He debunked Williams' statements regarding Miss Price's waving the gun around. He said, "She sure knew where to stop," adding that she fired only two shots, both of which hit Miss Achtermann. One of the shots grazed Miss Masten's right index finger.

Miss Masten had actually purchased a tranquilizer known as a "Milltown," pointing to the testimony of the manager of the store where she claimed she made the purchase to the effect that she did not buy it there.

Marsh said one of the letters found in the Price apartment, in which Miss Price told State Police what was her exact two bags of clothing which were Miss Masten's, indicated that Miss Price planned to kill both Miss Achtermann and Miss Masten.

Marsh pointed to a specific quote in the letter which told police the contents of the two bags should be given "to my friend's mother."

He also quoted letters to indicate that Miss Price was jealous of Miss Achtermann's attentions to Miss Masten.

"Triangle"
Earlier testimony had indicated there was a "triangle" consisting of the three women with Miss Price and Miss Achtermann competing for Miss Masten's affections.

Miss Masten had lived in Miss Price's apartment for approximately three years, moving in with Miss Achtermann about two weeks prior to the shooting.

Miss Price was the first witness to be called as her trial entered its fourth day.

Sobbing as she testified, she said she did not intend to kill, shoot or do bodily harm to Miss Achtermann or Miss Masten. She said she reached for the gun after Miss Achtermann "said she would throw me out of the window."

"Although I might have aimed it, I waved it and it went off," she said. She recalled hearing a loud noise and next recalled being in the hospital.

Earlier in her testimony, Miss Price said that Miss Achtermann had threatened "to make mashed potatoes of me" last March and that on another occasion Miss Achtermann struck her in the face with her fists and knocked her down.

Miss Price was the first witness to be called as her trial on charges of aggravated assault and battery, pointing a deadly weapon and assault with intent to kill entered its fourth day. She is accused of shooting Miss Achtermann and Miss Masten with a .22 caliber revolver on June 3. The shooting occurred in Miss Price's apartment at 75 Washington St., East Stroudsburg.

The defendant told the jury that on another occasion Miss Achtermann struck her in the face with her fists and knocked her down. The incident occurred at the Italian Club in Stroudsburg, she said, after she had been ordered to leave by the bartender. As she was on her way out, she said, she felt hands on her shoulder. She said Miss Achtermann turned her around, punched her nose and sent her "flying across the floor."

Although I might have aimed it, I waved it and it went off," she said. She recalled hearing a loud noise and next recalled being in the hospital.

Vet Phone Employee Is Honored

GRANT A. RINKER, 884 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg, was honored last night at a dinner in observance of his retirement Monday from the Bell Telephone Company.

Rinker, a native of Reeders, joined Bell as an installer-repairman in Stroudsburg 36 years ago. After serving here for a number of years, Rinker was transferred to Sunbury where he worked for 17 years. He returned to Stroudsburg as a plant department installer in February, 1969.

Bell company officials and co-workers honored Rinker at a dinner at Heddy's Restaurant at Echo Lake.

He is a member of the Telephone Pioneers of America, Bell's 100,000 mile safe driving club, Masonic organizations, Patriotic Sons of America and the United Church of Christ.

Rinker is married and the father of one daughter, Mrs. James Cyphers, of Whitehall.

Representatives of the Tom McKoon Council of the Telephone Pioneers have presented a retirement certificate to Rinker.

The presentation was made by J. R. Wellington, council secretary, and W. C. G. Peterson, Bell service foreman.

Lions Hear Talk On Wilson
DR. KURT WIMER, East Stroudsburg State College professor, was the guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Stroudsburg Lions Club. His theme was "Woodrow Wilson."

Dr. Wimer is recognized as one of the leading authorities in the United States on the life of former President Woodrow Wilson.

Following his talk he was presented with a certificate of appreciation from the club.

Miss Price was the first witness to be called as her trial on charges of aggravated assault and battery, pointing a deadly weapon and assault with intent to kill entered its fourth day. She is accused of shooting Miss Achtermann and Miss Masten with a .22 caliber revolver on June 3. The shooting occurred in Miss Price's apartment at 75 Washington St., East Stroudsburg.

The defendant told the jury that on another occasion Miss Achtermann struck her in the face with her fists and knocked her down. The incident occurred at the Italian Club in Stroudsburg, she said, after she had been ordered to leave by the bartender. As she was on her way out, she said, she felt hands on her shoulder. She said Miss Achtermann turned her around, punched her nose and sent her "flying across the floor."

Although I might have aimed it, I waved it and it went off," she said. She recalled hearing a loud noise and next recalled being in the hospital.

Earlier in her testimony, Miss Price said that Miss Achtermann had threatened "to make mashed potatoes of me" last March and that on another occasion Miss Achtermann struck her in the face

Wages Of Enthusiasm

A few years ago, Congress, which acts as City Council for Washington, D. C., voted for a new sports stadium. The cost was supposed to be $6 million.

Washington has a last-place baseball team, a football team and other diversions. These would pay rent to the district government, it was reasoned, and the bonds would be paid off.

Then the architect drew up his plans. Pretty, they were, and also expensive. The price now appeared to be $7.5 million. But hang the expense is the attitude in our Federal city, and the stadium was built.

When all the bills were paid, the stadium had cost not $6 or $7.5 million, but 20 million dollars. That's more than three times what originally was planned.

The stadium rentals, which were supposed to pay off the bonds, netted $200,000 in the first full year of operation. But the interest on the stadium bond issue comes to $831,600. So the stadium earned less than a fourth of what was necessary to make it self-sustaining.

The money to pay the interest must come from somewhere, and the question is where? Rep. August E. Johansen of Michigan complained to his constituents that it is now proposed that the Federal Government pay the difference out of the taxpayers' pockets.

If Congress allows this, millions of Americans who will never know the joys of watching the Washington Senators blow a ball game will pay part of the admission charges of Washingtonians who do.

The amount of money involved is small, as such things go in Washington, but Rep. Johansen is disturbed. He calls this problem "the wages of enthusiasm," and points out that so many Federal programs follow the same pattern.

First a fairly sensible idea with a moderate cost is proposed and approved. Then the enthusiasts take hold, and before you know it the cost has been multiplied and remultiplied. And then the taxpayers are called upon to bail the project out, whether they benefit or not.

Forest Fire Season Is Here

With burning hot weather and drying winds at hand, the warning issued last week to be careful of forest fires while in Penn's Woods makes considerable sense and is well worth heeding.

"Summer forest fire season" isn't just around the corner—it's here!

Some of the oldests in our community can recall the days when trees were thought of with little more respect than weeds that grow in the garden.

They were slashed and cut and burned and speedily and greedily turned into lumber. Suddenly the great lumbering operations of yesteryear were no more. They literally vanished into thin air.

Since those days fortunately, a strong conservation movement has sprung up.

Save the trees that are left standing.

Plant more where trees have been ripped out. Save the great natural resources that once smothered most parts of Pennsylvania.

Today the wise citizen, like the wise farmer, knows that it's smart business to protect the trees just as though they were crops — for in reality they are crops, harvested year in and year out.

A forest fire can undo in an hour or two what takes years to accomplish.

It would be well for each of us to resolve that as we go into the woods, we will exercise every possible precaution against starting a fire.

It will pay off for us—and our children. Philadelphia Northeast Times

Criticizes School Course

Editor, The Daily Record:

Due to the many misconceptions that have arisen on the controversy "Human Reproductive System" as taught in the Stroudsburg High School, I am writing this letter so that the people of the Stroudsburg area will know the true facts of this case.

My objection to this part of the Biology course is not the ability of the teacher. No one has ever said he is a poor teacher. I object to the treatment and presentation of this part of the course by this teacher to a 13 to 15 year mixed age group. When the subject becomes too personal, the boys and girls are separated. All these things tend to weaken and lower the morals of our youth and it becomes a cancerous growth.

I was invited to attend a closed meeting of the school board on September 12, 1962. Mr. Knepp refused to answer any of my questions.

At the next school board meeting September, 19, which was an open meeting, some supported this teacher for his ability and approved of the book. None would question how he presents it.

The administration and the school board refused to ask Mr. Knepp if he had at any time treated this subject in these peculiar ways. They refused also to rule on whether or not the book would be continued in the course. All they did was to give the teacher a vote of confidence.

Attached to this letter is the statement that I read to the school board at that meeting. Since it has not been published, it will enable all to better understand this controversy.

Richard Dishman

Mr. Dishman's statement, as read to the board, follows:

For the sake of brevity and full clarification of my position, I request the privilege of reading a statement to the School Board.

It is not my intention to tell this body how to conduct their business.

I came to the School Board only to bring this subject to their attention. It is not for notoriety, or self-gain.

Primarily I felt that this could be settled without publicity. You did not choose to do so.

Evidence in this case can be gained from students, parents of students who took the course or from graduate students.

In evaluating what is said here tonight, you must decide how much truth there is to it. Where you find truth, you must act on it.

It is your duty and obligation to review this subject and the book "The Human Reproductive System" and decide if it should continue as part of the biology course.

You have taken upon yourselves to treat a subject that should be taught primarily in the home by parents. I use the word "treat" rather than teach because you are not teaching it.

If this subject is to be taught it must be done fully. You have not the right to teach it in any other way, i. e. partially.

This subject can be taught only with direct relationship to the Moral Law and the Law of Nature.

So that everyone present may understand what this means, may I state briefly:

The Moral Law is the law of God—i. e. The Ten Commandments.

The Law of Nature is your conscience—i. e. The ability to distinguish between right and wrong.

No one has the right to do or teach what is immoral or unnatural.

It is not sufficient to explain only what the reproductive system is and its function but how it pertains to the Moral Law and the Law of Nature.

An example showing what correct thinking can do on this subject: — An organization who teaches many millions of men, has been teaching this subject in a manner such as you are doing here at Stroud Union. I am referring to the U.S. Army.

They taught this subject with movies, lectures and free advice. Those of you who have been in service, know of these things.

No reference was made to the Moral Law or the Law of Nature. They found that they were doing only one thing — creating a band of savages and then giving them liberty.

Now they have completely reversed themselves, realizing their mistake and in wishing to get the proper results, the U.S. Army has turned the teaching of this subject over to the Chaplains.

My suggestion to you is this: Realize the mistake and remove this book from the biology course. Set up a committee of prominent citizens and educators to study this subject and reach a suitable decision on how and by whom it will be taught, at what level, age, etc.

You are teaching a course that should be taught in college, premed or medical school. Even some nursing schools do not give such a course.

Now I wish to speak on some of the abuses and by products of this course. You are exciting passions in some adolescents who are emotionally unprepared to cope with it. In the public library this book is on the restricted list.

You are spreading scandal. We do not hear these rumors from other schools.

You are using subterfuge in gaining permission from parents to allow their children to take this part of the course. In many cases the parents do not even sign this permission slip. In other cases they do not know what they are signing. Even after the student completed the course some parents have never seen this book.

Students were cautioned at one time not to take the book home. Many students hear of this part of the biology course and desire to take it. After being exposed to it for a time, due to embarrassment and disgust, wish only for the ordeal to end.

In this high school at least three weeks is spent on this subject. Most high schools spend a week or less. Some colleges do not spend even three weeks on this subject.

At the school board meeting August 15, I brought to your attention these many rumors that have been spread around our town. I want to apologize for being so naive. Since that I have found out that these rumors and accusations have been given by the administration and school board many times. It is a practice to sweep them under the rug and allow Mr. Knepp to continue on his way.

Mr. Groner told me that Mr. Knepp would be at the meeting and ably defend himself. At the next meeting, September 12, Mr. Knepp refused to answer my questions.

In summation: To the teachers, I strongly believe in academic freedom. It gives a teacher the right to teach a subject in what manner he feels best. But if a person chooses to do whatever he wishes he can only choose to do what is right. I expect you to have a "esprit de corps" within your group and defend this right of academic freedom, but not when a teacher is wrong. Clergy, doctors, educators have told me that they believe the treatment and presentations of this subject is wrong.

School Board and Administration: I wish to beg you for relief from this program. You can not say you do not know about it. You can not say that a school board fifteen years ago is responsible for what happens in the future.

It is my belief that right thinking decent people would not allow this situation to continue.

If you allow a higher person or body to rule on this subject, then you are courting an authority who would then demand greater reform, even as to the removal of the teacher and the administration. It is not my intention to force you into such a position, but if necessary I will pursue this case to the highest authority.

I only wish you to remove this part of the biology course and the cancerous growth that has taken hold in this school. Cut out this cancer and all its roots, so that it can not grow again, lest it stifle and ruin the lives of our children.

We shall miss him. And now that he trends the paths in our garden of memories, we shall be glad that he was listed among our friends.

More On Tocks Island

Editor, The Daily Record:

That was a very mysterious letter in your last Saturday edition about Tocks Island Dam. How any person could live in Stroudsburg for 10 years and be indifferent to a dam which will be over their heads is a mystery.

Certainly it is very queer that your correspondent should suddenly be inspired by the gabbling of Mr. Schnitzer to decide that the dam is desirable. A project involving 177 million dollars and displacing more than 2,000 people should not be taken this lightly but like many other major projects I suppose we will refrain from looking into this now and pay gross court costs later while the exposures tell us the things good citizens should be finding out now.

Why bother? It's only your tax money and your neighbors' land. Your correspondent is one of the thousands of victims of a first - class brain - washing job in this matter.

Tribute To Donald Fritts

Editor, The Daily Record:

Words are of little value in expressing emotions stimulated by the departure of a friend. Words can only recall memories of the radiant smile, the word of encouragement, the firm hand clasp, and the constant devotion to friendship.

Donald Fritts, will be greeting us no more. We shall miss his companionship; his cheerful nod; his gentle ridicule, and above all, his magnanimous spirit — the giving of himself.

He was ever mindful of responsibility to his Institution and ever loyal to those with whom he served. He was profoundly interested in youth. He was cooperative with contemporaries. He was tolerant of age. According to his students, as a teacher he was fascinating; as a friend he was dependable, and in times of misfortune he was compassionate. To the students he was more than teacher; more than a friend; he was often benefactor, and his support was quietly tendered to those in financial need. To how many, we shall never know.

We shall miss him. And now that he trends the paths in our garden of memories, we shall be glad that he was listed among our friends.

Another 'Defector'

Editor, The Daily Record:

The letter by I. C. Shumacher appearing in the Stroudsburg Record of September 14, 1962, has just been brought to my attention.

I am also planning to defect from the Democratic party to the Republicans along with former City Controller Lawrence Gerost.

As a summer resident of Monroe County, I do not like what goes on there. My taxes are exorbitant.

I do not like the roadways along 209. One of the ways to get rid of those road signs is for Monroe County to tax them according to size. This has been found a means of ridding roads of these horrible monstrosities.

I suggest this for reducing the high taxes in Monroe County.

I am familiar with Mr. Schnitzer's letters. I believe he is doing a desirable piece of work.

A Lesson In Civics

I have received a letter from Fort Thomas, Kentucky, which is important because it indicates how improper is the teaching of civics in our public schools. When I used to do a great deal of lecturing, I was always shocked during question time by the unbelievable ignorance of so many Americans about their own country. Let me reproduce most of this letter:

"A group of us here in Northern Kentucky, a territory highly infested with Catholics, just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati, recently completed reviewing the book — American Freedom and Catholic Power — by Paul Blanshard, of Washington, D.C.

"Mr. Blanshard states in his book that none of the facts covered have been challenged by Pope John or any American Bishops, and that he has positive proof that everything in the book is true.

"He states that American Catholics are not citizens, but that they are subjects of a foreign state, in Rome.

"Can you explain this for us, also, if they are not citizens, how can they vote; how can they have such a voice in community affairs; how can a Roman Catholic (not being a citizen) become President?"

The Constitution of the United States says on the subject of citizenship the following:

"All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

"This is the law of the land and is not to be violated by any person or state.

Any American citizen born in the United States who is 35 years old may be President of the United States; any American, 30 years old, who has been a citizen for nine years may be chosen for United States Senator. A Supreme Court justice may be either a native born or naturalized citizen.

The Constitution states no reservation as to religion or race or the nationality of a citizen's parents. In fact, the Constitution specifies:

"... nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

As to religion, the First Amendment states:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

According to this provision, a Roman Catholic, a Greek Catholic, a Jew, a Moslem, a Bahaiist, even an atheist, possesses all the

School Board's Position

Editor, The Daily Record:

Last Wednesday evening, September 19, the board of education of Stroud Union School District in the course of its regular meeting at that time officially heard and aired a complaint and a request regarding a part of the work in our biology course—namely, the work dealing with the study of the human reproductive system. Almost three hundred interested residents crowded in to the high school library to hear the discussion and finally get at the truth of the matter. The purpose of this letter is to state in brief what occupied more than an hour on the evening of September 19.

As is so frequently the case, rumors had been circulating that entirely and grossly misrepresented what is done in the high school. The truth is that near the end of the school term students in biology are given the opportunity to study the human reproductive system.

(1) Note, please, that this is an opportunity, for no student student may take the course whose parents have not given written permission for him or her to do so. The course, then is not required. Permission of parents must be given before students begin the work.

(2) Contraception is not discussed. The prohibition is one of the premises upon which the course was begun.

(3) The course is scientifically objective in its presentation; it is clean and wholesome; it is done in such a manner, you may be sure, that many of those who are privileged to take it, understand for the first time in their lives, the reproduction of the human species in a way that is not associated with the half-truths, the gossip, and the vulgar misrepresentations of the streets.

At one point in the meeting a board member rose to put the question "Is there anyone—anyone—in this audience tonight who has anything unfavorable to say

In other words, this course dignifies and ennobles the meaning of parenthood.

(4) At appropriate times boys and girls meet separately.

There had been so much shameful rumor and innuendo that our board of education agreed to air the problem publicly to set the record straight. They did this, even though they knew, to their regret, that a teacher would suffer the humiliation that such spectacles produce. They knew, too, that continued unsettled rumors and rumblings can also unsettle a whole school system.

What happened is now a matter of record in the minutes of the board of education and in the story in the Daily Record on the day following the board meeting. After the principal set forth the administration's position, completely endorsing the teacher, the program, and the text, the complaint was heard and the subject was thrown open to the public. As the story in the Record indicates, the whole open discussion was an enthusiastic affirmation of faith in the program.

Among those who spoke in approval were the Reverend Thomas Shoemith, retired rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Dr. Grady Moore, head of the science department at East Stroudsburg State College, Dr. Charlotte Jordan, Dr. Mary Hunsicker, Mahlon Serfass for the school faculty, the Reverend William C. Leopold, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, as well as Joseph R. Venne, Clearview P. T. A. president, Patricia Williams, and Charlotte Wakefield, former students.

At one point in the meeting a board member rose to put the question "Is there anyone—anyone—in this audience tonight who has anything unfavorable to say

Just Can't See It

Editor, The Daily Record:

When I read Bob Clark's column in which he quoted part of an editorial from "The Bergen Evening Record", Hackensack, N.J., which editorial was concerned with the proposed Tocks Island Dam, I was reminded of the old fairy tale of "Henny Penny". Perhaps you remember it was the tale of how the news spread that "the sky was falling down" when all along the panic was caused by the sound of a falling acorn.

When the above mentioned editorial asked its readers to: "Envision, if possible, a 33-mile long manmade lake at the heart of a 70,000-acre recreation area" . . . etc., etc., the composer was only repeating, possibly verbatim, what we have been asked to imagine by countless circulated, prepared "educational" films, newsletters, brochures, etc. which have, for the most part, been distributed and paid for by public relations groups whose only function it is to promote whatever projects will benefit the industries in the Delaware Basin area which they represent.

It is easy to "envision" most anything one wants to envision. A working man envisions a sleek, new car - but when he is over his head in debt he postpones the dream and works on the debt. It is elementary that you don't buy skates when you have no shoes.

Questions Gas Bills

Editor, The Daily Record:

Recently we have been charged for gas from Citizens Gas Co. without meters being read. We don't seem to get any recourse from them.

Are we supposed to pay for gas this way? We have proof that these meters are not being read. They have admitted it themselves.

Try and Stop Me

Then there's the worried lady who called her doctor to report, "My husband has suddenly gone off his rocker. He seems to think he's George Washington." "When can I see him?" asked the doctor. "Just take a look out of your window," said the lady. "He's out in your backyard chopping down your cherry tree."

A wise man and a country bumpkin found themselves sharing a seat for a long bus ride and decided to ask each other riddles to pass the time. "When I miss a riddle," proposed the wise man, "I'll pay you a dollar, but seeing that I've had educational training that was beyond you, when you miss a riddle, you need only pay me fifty cents." "Done and done," agreed the bumpkin, "and I've got my first riddle ready for you right now. What is it that has three legs when it walks and only two when it flies?" "I give up," said the wiseman, "and here's my dollar forfeit. What's the answer?" "I don't know either," admitted the bumpkin and handed back fifty cents.

"My wallet," boasted an old Shakespearean ham "is bursting with big bills." Then he asked sadly, "If only some of them were paid!"

Dear Abby

Speak Up Now!

Dear Abby: After ten years of marriage I have found out that my husband has been embezzling checks from the company for which he works. I stumbled on this quite by accident about two months ago.

He is a good husband and father. We don't live extravagantly and I don't know what he is doing with the money. We have three precious children and it would kill me if he was caught and sent to prison. I can't bring myself to tell my pastor or my dear mother. I don't want to discredit him in their eyes. I shall be watching and praying for you to tell me what to do. He doesn't know I know.

DEAR BURDENED: Tell your husband what you know — today! And INSIST, upon threat of exposing him yourself, that he confess to his employer while he may still be able to make restitution. The law will be easier on him now than later.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a beautiful girl, and after 10 years of marriage I am still crazy about her, but she can't hold a candle to my mother when it comes to housekeeping.

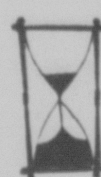

She's a romantic mate, a good cook and she isn't lazy. We have six adorable children and she's a terrific mother. I give her credit for teaching them to love each other, to share and to control their tempers. She never nags and asks very little for herself. But our house is usually upside down. It's an old house but my mother lived in an older house and kept it as neat and spotless as a hospital. How can I get my about the program?" There was no reply. Dr. Lim, a member of the Board, reviewed the matter at length and expressed approval of the program. The superintendent of schools uncomprehendingly endorsed the teacher and the program.

Finally, the motion was made and seconded that a vote of confidence be taken by the board of education to undo or mitigate in some measure the anguish that the teacher had to endure while this problem was being discussed. The vote was taken by individually polling the board members. Every member of the board was present that night, and every member voted "yes," expressing complete confidence in the teacher and the course.

How, may we ask, can we do more? It does nothing for teacher morale to know that a program has been placed under public scrutiny in an open meeting. The board, we hope, has once and for all settled this matter. The people of this school district should so eloquently, "Hate rumor! Hate rumor!" If you hear reports of what, in your opinion, may be something questionable, inquire of your school. You will get a straight forward answer—the truth.

Yours respectfully
Ruth J. Houser, President
Stroud Union School Board

Ex-Caruso Waiter Retires From Army Depot Post

A TOBYHANNA Army Depot employee who once served the great Caruso, retired yesterday at the age of 69. George K. Tompkey, a stone mason here since 1933, was working as a waiter at the old Knickerbocker Hotel in New York in 1917, when the world-famous operatic tenor arrived for lunch.

Tompkey recalls that Caruso was a "very jolly man, a great eater and a good tipper." Caruso came back often to the Knickerbocker and always sought out his "favorite waiter."

In a very varied career, Tompkey has been, in addition to a mason and waiter, a carpenter, interpreter, chef, candy maker, coffee shop owner and soldier. He was born in Sparta, Greece, and at age 13 emigrated to the United States, settling for a time in Havre de Grace, Md.

During World War I, he served briefly with the 155th Infantry Depot Brigade. After the war, he opened a small candy store in Bethlehem, Pa., later going into the manufacturing of "all types of candies."

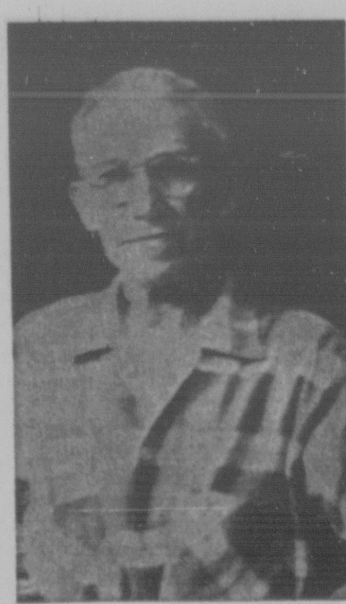

While living in Bethlehem, he was often called to serve as interpreter during court trials. He is fluent in five languages—Greek, German, Spanish, Italian and English.

Married Key Employee
One of his key employees at the candy-making plant in Bethlehem was a Miss Hilda Kropf. She later also became his chief cook and cake baker. Tompkey says, "Instead of paying her wages, I thought I'd marry her."

They have a married daughter, Mrs. Stathia Cockerill of Alexandria, Va., and a son, Charles, in the Air Force.

High on the list of Tompkey's retirement plans is a trip to Greece to visit relatives and to check on 30 acres of orange and olive groves he owns in that country.

At home, near Tobyhanna, he will do "some gardening" and help run the family's small coffee shop.

Rev. Markin Speaks On Fitness

REV. Luther E. Markin spoke on fitness at Wednesday's meeting of the MORA Club at the YMCA. William H. Metzgar presided in the absence of Percy Marvin and named Al Sommer, John R. Wilson, Ashton Burrows and W. H. Metzgar to a committee to direct a program of cheer for Monroe County home residents.

Wilson led group singing with Frank Sherman at the piano. It was announced Arbor Day will be observed Oct. 10 and a trip to Philadelphia has been tentatively set for Oct. 24.

A film, "Beyond the Horizon," will be shown at the next meeting.

A. A. Widmer To Be Honored

ARTHUR A. (Shorty) Widmer, who recently retired after 35 years of service with the A. B. Wyckoff Dept. Store's advertising department, will be honored at a meeting of the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn. on Monday at 7 p.m. in the Bartonsville Hotel.

Widmer served for 25 years as secretary of the association.

WITH ONLY ONE COVERED BRIDGE to bless itself with, Monroe County couldn't do much to celebrate "Pennsylvania Covered Bridge Week" which ends today. However this remaining bridge, constructed over The Swiftwater after the flood of 1955, at Swiftwater Inn has been requested both by the National Covered Bridge Assn. and for the government files in Harrisburg. On the grounds of the Swiftwater Inn, it is 36 feet long, strong enough to carry the heaviest load and was constructed with a loving eye to detail, even to the nostalgic "Please Walk Your Horses" above its entrance.

(Coffman and Meyung)

Historical Society Seeks Covered Bridge Pictures

Very few people realize that today marks the end of "Pennsylvania Covered Bridge Week". Even Gov. Lawrence who signed the proclamation apparently forgot it — at least he didn't mention it in his speech at the Inter-Borough bridge on Tuesday.

But if it will make the sponsors of the proclamation any happier, there is one person who remembered that was Mrs. Horace Walters, custodian of the Monroe County Historical Society Museum to whom the preservation of historical information is a continuing concern, and who has been attempting to complete the museum's file of Monroe County's covered bridges.

To her knowledge we have just one covered bridge still standing, and that is on private land. It is the small covered bridge across the Swiftwater at the Swiftwater Inn.

The hunt for pictures of covered bridges started for Mrs. Walters a year ago when she was requested by the state to make a covered bridge survey so that those of the past and present could be registered in Harrisburg.

One thing she discovered in her search was that there was a time near the turn of the century when the people couldn't wait to get rid of the now-pumpered, most-cherished, photographed, painted, visited and preserved old wooden bridges. They wanted to replace them with the then-new modern iron bridges which nobody loves now.

Bushkill Bridge

Such was the state of affairs in April, 1897 when the county commissioners of both Bushkill and Pike County met at Bushkill to consider the condition of the old covered bridge which they jointly maintained. They found it in very poor condition with many of the timbers needing replacement, as well they might since the bridge had already been in use for a period of 60 years.

Anyway, at a subsequent meeting they decided to replace it with a new iron bridge, letting the contract to a Pittsburgh firm on a bid of $1,667.

Not all of the bridges were so dispersed, and the editor of the Stroudsburg Times waxed quite enthusiastic about Kerr's bridge in his story about its destruction by fire in January, 1897. Kerr's Bridge was located on the Kerr Farm, now Glen Brook Country Club, and the fire was discovered by Lewis Phillips who then occupied the house about 3 o'clock in the morning.

In writing its obituary, the editor pointed out that it was "a most substantial" bridge, which had been in use for 30 years. Sixty feet long and resting on solid stone abutments, the bridge had resisted the freshets which periodically flooded the McMichaels. It has cost very little to maintain, he mourned, pointed out that in the year of 1896 the sum of $1 was all that was spent on its maintenance.

Its loss, the story went on, necessitated residents who ordinarily used it to drive to town by way of Cherry Valley. Kerr's Bridge, too, was replaced by an iron bridge.

Fire also destroyed the covered bridge which spanned the Brodheads at Minsi, now Minskink Hills, according to a story on Feb. 17, 1898. Or maybe it just went up in flames as, a more glorious end than the shameful one of being torn down timber by timber.

The bridge had been purchased by A. J. Hill and was being torn down to make room for a new bridge, iron, we presume.

There were other covered bridges in the county including Bell's Bridge which was by the paper mill; and the covered bridge at Tannersville, of which the museum does have a picture.

However, in the memory of most people living today The Covered Bridge, was the covered bridge at what is now Pocono Park. As the last survivor of the big bridges in the county, there was no need to use its original name "Brands' Bridge."

The Covered Bridge was the destination for many a Scout hike and hot dog roast, and many a Sunday school class picnic with in memory. Yet despite its comparatively recent history, Mrs. Walters has been unable to locate a picture of it.

Monroe County can do very little about the observance of Pennsylvania Covered Bridge week anymore; the most its residents can do is look through the attic and see if they can find any old postcards or pictures of the covered bridges which once were and are no more.

Such photographs would do much to complete the Historical Museum's files and would please Mrs. Walters who remembered Pennsylvania Covered Bridge Week.

Interesting variation: add cooked corn niblets (cut from fresh cobs or canned) to a cream sauce and serve over sliced hard-cooked eggs. Sprinkle with parsley or chives.

Juniors To Open Year At Supper

The Junior Woman's Club of the Stroudsburgs will open the new club year with a covered dish supper meeting on Tuesday night at 6:30 at the YMCA when the presidents of other federated clubs and the county president will be guests.

Mrs. Stanley Grace will preside at the business meeting when yearbooks of programs will be distributed. Fund-raising projects to meet a welfare budget of $800 will be discussed. Two special interest groups: ceramics and dancing will announce plans.

The program is being arranged by the Fine Arts Department. Members may bring guests who are prospective members to the meeting. Already accepted into membership are Mrs. Edward Frick, Mrs. William Gessner, Mrs. William Rogers, Miss Constance M. Sandt, Mrs. Harry Whitley Jr., Mrs. Stanley Boornstein, Mrs. Richard Garis and Mrs. Robert Jenney.

Reports will be given on the club booth at the West End Fair.

Swimming Party For Lutheran Fellowship

The Lutheran Youth Fellowship of Grace Church, East Stroudsburg, following devotions at 7 o'clock Sunday night, will have a swimming party at Mountain Manor. Chaperones will accompany the teenagers and invite all young people in the parish to join them.

Officers will be installed at the 11 a.m. service on Sunday, Oct. 14. They are Brian Farris, president; David Meinhardt, vice president; Clayton Heimbach Jr., secretary; Amy Wunder, treasurer; Linda Bosman, worship chairman; Betty Blair, music; Eugene Mutchler, Robert Schoonover, Pat Miller, Linda Sebring, Georgiana Hines, Sharon Smith, Barbara Blitz and Diane Lotz, hospitality.

Membership Goal Tripled For Weekend

This weekend will see the climax of a hot political race in the mountains but it's an intermountain affair. The Pocono Mountains Council of Republican Women set as its goal doubling its membership of 100 by Oct. 1.

On Friday they had reached that goal and have set a goal of tripling their membership by Monday. Two women are currently tied in the number of new members turned in with 15 each: Mrs. Dora Field of Tobyhanna Twp. and Mrs. John Bowman of Cresco.

Dr. Powers To Speak Tuesday At Sisterhood

Sisterhood of the Temple Israel will meet on Tuesday night at 8 when Dr. Madelon Powers, head of the art department at East Stroudsburg State College, will speak on the work of the Russian Jewish Artist, Mark Chagall whose stained glass windows will be used in the new Hadassah Hospital in Israel.

Dames Of Malta

St. John's Sisterhood Dames of Malta will meet on Monday night at 7:30. The Ruth degree will be conferred on candidates. Team members are asked to bring their regalia.

Mrs. Teeter Honored On 93rd Birthday

Mrs. Alice Teeter was the guest of honor at a family dinner party celebrating her 93rd birthday held at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Teeter, 21 Colling St., Stroudsburg. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Setzer and children, James and Cheryl, of Hacketts-town and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coslett and children, Frank and Susan.

Mrs. Teeter and her sons, Sherman, and Claude of Milford Road, East Stroudsburg, all have birthdays within the week.

High School Acceleration PTA Theme

Swiftwater — The acceleration program in Pocono Mountain Joint High School will be among the topics to be discussed at the meeting of the Pocono Mountains Parent-Teachers Assn. on Monday night at the high school auditorium.

C. Willis Dunlap, supervising principal, will discuss the acceleration program. Walter Melnikoff, president of the Monroe County Council of Parents and Teachers will explain the aims of the committee on academic excellence.

Mrs. Peter Gorsud, president, will preside at the meeting which is open to all parents.

Book Club Meets Tuesday

Book Club will have its first meeting of the fall season on Tuesday night at 8 at the home of Mrs. Alexander Lee, Kerr's Bridge, Glen Brook Road.

It will be magazine night with reports from the members.

Fellowship Skating

Delaware Water Gap — Forty-six skaters attended the Methodist Youth Fellowship skating party held at Carmen's last Thursday night. Added to the members of the fellowship were many friends and young married couples. Rev. Raymond Portra and Mr. and Mrs. DeVice Keiper were in charge. The party was held from 7 to 10 p.m.

Saddle Club Dance

Pocono Saddle Club will sponsor a dance to be held Oct. 6 at the Bartonsville Hotel from 9 to 12 p.m. The Ramblers will furnish the music for round and square dancing.

Barrett PTA Plan "Meet The Staff"

Barrett — "Meet the Staff" is the title of the Parent Teachers Association program to be presented at the Barrett Elementary Center Monday, Oct. 8 at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the faculty will be in their respective classrooms between 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. to meet the parents of the children in their classes.

The program will terminate with a business session in the gymnasium at 8:30 p.m., Mrs. Charles Wilkinson, president, announced. Also present for the meeting will be James Davenport, Pocono Mountains Joint elementary supervisor, and Lloyd Peak, principal of Barrett Elementary Center.

Parents of all children attending school in grade Kindergarten to and including sixth grade are eligible for membership in the PTA. The meetings are held the second Monday of each month in the school.

New officers for the 1962-1963 school term are Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. Albert Goll, vice president; Mrs. William Bruch, recording secretary; Miss Ruth Henry, corresponding secretary, and Herbert Larsen, treasurer.

Girl Scouts Form Patrols

Delaware Water Gap — The Girl Scouts of Troop 30, meeting Wednesday night at the firehall with Mrs. Rodney Baechtold and Mrs. Stephen Matos, divided into two groups; the "Pink Roses" and the "Black Feet." Doris Widows is president of the Pink Roses; and Joan Smith, secretary; Nancy Richards is president of the Black Feet; and Lavinia Singer, vice president.

The girls also planned for a hiking trip to the fire tower on Mt. Minsi, Oct. 6. Yoyo Geshen-sky, who is a Senior Girl Scout, was present and told the girls about her trip to Vermont this summer, to Senior Girl Scout Rally. Sixteen girls were present at Wednesday's meeting, only Carol Reisenwitz and Patsy Werkheiser being unable to be present.

Catechetical Class

The catechetical class of Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, will be organized on Sunday night at 6 in the parish house. All young people in the parish in seventh grade or above who have not been confirmed are urged to join the class of instruction taught by Pastor William Wunder on Luther's Small Catechism. The class will be confirmed on Palm Sunday.

Dell-Aaby

Donald L. Dell, Stroudsburg, and Barbara Bjerch Aaby, Rutherford, N. J., applied for a marriage license yesterday from N. Henry Fenner, Monroe County clerk of orphan's court.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pooley
(Staff Photo By MacLeod)

Tributes To The Pooleys Recall Loving Services

Representatives from three churches gathered to pay tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pooley, a couple in their 80s, for their contribution and service to the life of the churches and the community in a "This Is Your Life" program at the Arlington Heights Methodist Church.

The program followed a family covered dish supper in the recreation room which had been colorfully decorated for the occasion.

Mr. Pooley and his wife, called "Little Peanut" by their friends, were introduced by the church pastor. Narrative setting for the program was a poem "A Little Bit of History" written by Pierre Lake.

As each incident was related, testimonies were presented by those who know of the Pooleys' work in the Fifth St. Mission, the Bethel A. M. E. Church and the Arlington Heights Church.

The Pooleys were both born in England. Mr. Pooley came to this country first and was joined by his bride-to-be three years later. A nephew and his wife were present to tell of their wedding. The Pooleys will celebrate their 58th wedding anniversary on Oct. 8.

They lived first in Michigan where Mr. Pooley worked in the mines, moving then to New Jersey, then to LaAnna, and finally to Stroudsburg where they have lived for 42 years, and where Mr. Pooley has been in the cement block business.

Girls from Mrs. Pooley's Sunday school class sang their favorite hymns. Mrs. George Farry sang "O Perfect Love" as the wedding cake, baked by their daughter, Mrs. Clyde White, was brought to the stage. They were also presented with a money tree.

The wedding cake and coffee was later served to about 90 people.

If you grow fresh herbs, do try adding chopped fresh thyme to an olive-oil and lemon juice dressing for salad. A Greek combination that's refreshing.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

There is one thing about rain in autumn — with the beeches and the yellow maples shining on the hillsides they give the illusion that the sun is shining even when it isn't. Most of my autumn foliage is viewed from that short section of the Thru-way which runs from Prospect Cemetery to Broad St. but it's still a mighty handsome stretch of scenery.

However, I was looking forward to a necessary trip to Mt. Pocono to get a little broader view of the world. The sun was shining dimly as we left Stroudsburg, but Mt. Pocono itself was sitting right spung in the middle of a cloud.

One of the minor mysteries is how come clouds can look so fleecy and white and entrancing when you see them floating high in a blue sky, and so grey and miserable when you're in them. This was sort of like being in a jet, and you could almost touch the perimeter of the cloud as you entered it just below the overhead bridge.

Once inside it, your perspective was entirely different. Within the circle of about ten feet things were abnormally clear and sharp, but beyond that the outline of objects seemed to be dissolving and in the far distance to vanish altogether in some sort of night-mare world from which it looked as if a monster from Mars might stalk at any minute.

Maybe the weekend will clear. At least for your sake and mine. I hope the mental cloud under which I've been wandering this past week will dissolve. I feel as if I were carrying it with me like a miasma, cold and dank and dripping moisture over everything.

In a gruesome sort of way, I've been sort of enjoying the experience, and maybe I won't want to walk in the sun once again.

Quick brunch bread: make a one-egg cake and turn into pan; sprinkle with a little sugar mixed with cinnamon. Cut into squares or bars in pan, remove with wide spatula and serve hot.

ROOM SETTING, designed by Dorothy Draper, designer and color consultant, changes the scene with a frosty pink rug, pink walls and pink tablecloth which features a pink and red border print on a white fabric of acetate taffeta, and a quilted breadspread with etched design bordering the skirt. It is one of a series of scene changers to be shown at the Arlington Heights Church on Tuesday night.

Class Offers Slides On Home Decoration

The Willing Workers of the Arlington Heights Church have planned a special program for Tuesday night at 7 open to members and friends of the class.

A series of 50 slides will be shown demonstrating "Scene Changers", showing how ready-mades can be used to change the scene in homes.

Mrs. Perry Fitz will read the commentary offering suggestions for using ready-mades as bed canopies, room dividers, window wall draperies, as well as for transforming breakfast rooms into garden settings, enlarging small window space, concealing uneven corner windows or radiators and many other home decorating ideas.

The program is provided by the Celanese Corp.

Oldsters Must Adjust To Life In New Locale

By Roberta Fleming Roesch
"When my husband and I retired, we cut ourselves loose from all our ties and responsibilities and moved to a new part of the country in order to be completely independent and fancy free," a reader reports.

"Now — even though we once thought we'd like it — we feel we're vegetating by merely existing from one day to another and by not contributing anything to anyone.

Feel Lost
"Admittedly, we've lost our grip. But we're in a new community and we're afraid we've lost our opportunities to pick ourselves up again.

"What do you advise?"
To your own credit, I'm happy to see that you've already solved the first stage of your problem by recognizing the fact that you're unhappy because you're contributing nothing beyond your existence to life.

Look For Openings
I'm also happy to remind you that there are always opportunities in every community to contribute to something. Start looking around and inquiring today.

As you find activities, continue getting your grip back by setting yourself a daily time schedule so you'll know each day that you'll be doing something definite to play your part in life.

Children Grade Sitters According To Child-Appeal

By Vivian Brown
Want to be a successful baby-sitter?

Woo the small fry, for competition is keen in some communities. If you develop child-appeal however, you've got it made.

One 3-year-old volunteered that even his mother could not be a good baby-sitter because "she isn't the type." When asked to define "the type," he and his playmates did so cheerfully.

It seems that some baby-sitters are "in," some are "out," and some are "far out" and may never get back in.

In their own words, "ins" include:

"Young girls, instead of other kids' mothers who are always trying to boss you around.

"Talking sitters, instead of those who read, knit and act like they'd rather be some place else. Sitters should ask whether you like Chinese checkers, chess or parcheesi or something, whether you ride horses or swim or skate. There are lots of things they can talk about, if they want to.

"Shiny faced ones, instead of those all made up with lipstick, and who are combing their hair all the time and looking in the mirror.

"Those who ask you what they can do for you, instead of telling you what to do all the time.

"Those who ask you to do things in a nice way instead of saying,

"You've gotta take your bath now," or "You've gotta go right to bed."

"Those who play with you, since your mother is paying them.

"Those who know about space and the solar system and things like that, instead of those who act dumb when you want to talk about the Milky Way or something.

"Those who act like they enjoy being with you, instead of like they are doing you a big favor.

"Those who discuss your hobbies, if you collect money or shells or something, they should act interested, and maybe even promise to bring you some next time.

"Those who, if they have their hair in curlers, wear a nice scarf over it.

"Out," and "Far Out" sitters include these:

"Sitters who give you a book and say, 'Here, read.'"

"Those who always burn the hot dogs and hamburgers.

"Those who talk about you on the phone to their friends when they think you are asleep.

"Those who try to act like your mother.

"Those who are always saying, 'Stop it' or 'Your mother says you've got to do this or that.'"

"Those who keep saying that they will tell your mother that you were not good.

"Those who don't say or do anything, just expect you to keep quiet when you haven't got anything to do.

"Those who talk baby-talk to you."

Rachel Carson Fights For Nature Against Pesticides

(EDITOR'S NOTE One of the most important books of the year is a dramatic indictment of widespread, indiscriminate use of pesticides. Here is a closeup of the author, a gentle yet doughty woman who goes calmly about her business of communing with nature and thinking about her next book. Meanwhile the pros and cons are argued, inside government and out.)

By FRANCES LEWINE

Washington (AP) — Rachel Carson doesn't intend to become a lecture hall crusader against the poisonous pesticides she wrote about in her sobering new book "Silent Spring."

She says she's had so many requests to lecture "if I accepted half of them, I'd never write again."

A biologist who first won fame with books about the sea and shore, she intends soon to be back browsing along the beaches and returning to a pending book "exploring nature with children." And she's already thinking about a major book on man's relationship to his environment.

She's Quiet Type
Miss Carson hardly looks the type for a crusade, anyway — 55, blue-eyed, 5 feet 3 inches tall, reserved, delicate — appearing, serious-minded — she's more the quiet teacher type.

It was only to "put the facts on record" so the public could make its own decision, she says, that Rachel Carson undertook a 4½-year project to warn about "poisonous and biologically potent chemicals" she reports have been put indiscriminately into the hands of persons wholly ignorant of their potential harm.

A letter from a friend who experienced a community DDT treatment for mosquitoes and feared she would be caught in another widespread campaign against the gypsy moth got Miss Carson interested in the pesticide problem.

She says she delved into the subject and "the more I heard, the more I was appalled with what had happened."

Hopes for Good Results
Miss Carson hopes her efforts will have some good results for fellow human beings and the world of nature that has been her abiding love since childhood. "We simply have to wait and see."

Mail floods into Miss Carson's quiet suburban Silver Spring, Md., home, where she has lived "close to excellent libraries" since days as a graduate student at Johns Hopkins University in 1932. With a smile, she notes that 98.5 percent of her mail is favorable, although she is fully aware there are many critics, too.

It's Everybody's Job
Her book fits in with her philosophy of life:

"We must all have a great sense of responsibility, and not let things happen because everyone takes the comfortable view that someone else is looking after it."

"Someone else isn't looking after it," she warns, "it is your responsibility — yours and everyone else's."

Miss Carson probably is best characterized by the love she has for nature — learned from her mother as she grew up in a suburb of Pittsburgh — and her quiet excitement at every new discovery she makes there. But there is also a fighting spirit, perhaps from Scotch-Irish ancestors.

Always Wanted to Write

Ever since she can remember, Rachel Carson wanted to be a writer. When she started out at Pennsylvania College for Women (class of 1929) it was as a major in English composition. "I thought that was the way to become a writer."

But after a course in biology she decided to pursue the study of science.

"It's amazing," Miss Carson says, looking back now, that "it never occurred to me or any of my advisers that there was a possibility of combining the two fields." It was presented as an "irrevocable choice" and she made it in favor of biology — only discovering years later that she was "getting something to write about."

Books Educational

"Each of my books (there have been three others — "Under the Wind", "The Sea Around Us" and "Edge of the Sea") has been a great education to me.

College teaches you how to study, Miss Carson says, and thereafter each project of compelling interest prods you to learn more. "I study all the time — in an informal sense."

The success of "The Sea Around Us" on best-seller lists for 86 weeks and translated into 30 languages, made it possible for Miss Carson to leave her longtime job as editor-in-chief of the U. S. Fisheries and Wildlife Service and devote herself full-time to her own writing.

She no longer has to write in the late hours of the night, but she says she works harder than when she held a regular job. "To be one's own boss is to be much more exacting. If anyone made me work these hours, I'd certainly complain," she admits.

Relaxes in Work

Miss Carson has never married ("no time"). She says she sometimes envies men writers

Petunias, Pecan Bread, Plus Sundry Assorted Tea Party Sandwiches

By Linda Pipher
Daily Record Home Economist

It always amazes me how some people can take a little of this and a little of that and make a centerpiece that looks as if it came right off a magazine cover.

Mrs. Frances LaBar entertained the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Women at her home this week and the tea table was lovely, sitting in front of a picture window that framed a view of the mountains with the Delaware Water Gap in the background.

The centerpiece was an arrangement of ivy, a few petunias, and greens. I can imagine what would happen to any poor petunias I'd try to arrange! They wouldn't droop, they'd sag — but these were so perky they looked right at home.

On the table was an assortment of dainty sandwiches and cookies that must have entailed hours of work by Mrs. Edna Wallace's committee who were busy seeing everyone had the chance to sample everything. Mrs. Myrtle Dieffenbach even had her visiting sister working in the kitchen. In this town you don't stay home from a meeting because you have company; you take them along and put them to work.

As I had to get home to meet the school bus, I didn't have time to ask for recipes, so I'll have to give you a few of mine. Party sandwiches do take time, but take advantage of the freezer. Most fillings can be frozen; start a week or so ahead of time and by the day of the party, you'll have a wonderful assortment to serve.

Vary the breads; use whole wheat and rye, and don't forget to bake quick breads that taste delicious with a cream cheese filling. If you bake the batter in greased frozen juice cans you'll have perfect, dainty circle sandwiches. Remember, too, that quick breads slice easier if stored at least a day at room temperature.

Orange Pecan Bread
1 egg
1 cup orange juice
1 cup raisins, finely cut
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons shortening, melted and cooled slightly
1 cup chopped pecans
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar

Beat egg; stir in orange juice, raisins, orange rind, shortening, and vanilla. Sift flour, baking powder, soda, salt and sugar together. Stir into liquid mixture. Mix well. Stir in pecans. Pour into well greased 5"x9"x2½" loaf pan. Bake at 350 for one hour. Or fill frozen juice cans two-thirds full and bake 20-25 minutes at 350 degrees.

Chocolate Bread
3 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoon baking powder
1¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg, well beaten
1¼ cup milk
4 tablespoons melted butter
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
Sift flour, baking powder and salt into mixing bowl. Add brown sugar and mix well. Combine egg and milk; add gradually to dry ingredients, mixing thoroughly. Add butter and chocolate and blend. Bake in greased loaf pan 8"x4"x3" at 350 for one hour and 15 minutes. Or fill greased frozen juice cans two-thirds full and bake 25-30 minutes at 350.

Slice the bread thin and put circles or slices together with softened cream cheese. Stack in a flat pan, putting wax paper between layers, and freeze until an hour before serving time.

Use cookie cutters to cut various shapes from whole wheat, white, cracked wheat or rye bread. Use different kinds of bread for top and bottom of sandwiches and fill with a filling such as one of these:

Chicken-Nut Filling
2 cups minced, cooked, or canned chicken
½ cup minced celery
1 cup finely chopped pecans

dash of pepper
Mix together and refrigerate. Makes about ¾ cups.

Orange-Peanut Butter Filling
¼ cup peanut butter
½ cup raisins, cut in little pieces with scissors
½ cup orange juice, fresh, frozen, or canned
Mix together and refrigerate. Makes 1¼ cups.

Anniversaries Of Interest In Bartonville

Bartonville — Rev. Peter N. Wahlen, D.D., pastor emeritus of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, was guest minister at St. John's Church here on Sept. 23, when Pastor Robert Zach participated in 100th anniversary services at Zion Church, Brodheads-ville.

Many local persons attended the evening service at the Brodheads-ville church. Following the service they renewed acquaintances with former Hamilton Lutheran parish ministers, Rev. James Shannon and Mrs. Shannon, of Litzitz and Rev. John Bergstresser, of Roversford.

Rev. Shannon served the Hamilton parish from 1947 to 1961 and Rev. Bergstresser from 1961 to 1966.

SATURDAY
HORRIBLE HENRY—Jerry Orbach's big green one-toothed walrus puppet from the Broadway hit "Carnival"—goes high-pressure to win a salesman's contest on "The Shari Lewis Show" from 10 to 10:30 this morning in color, Chs. 3 and 4.
Host Ned Hoopes and several youngsters from the Great Neck, N. Y., public school system will argue the merits of "Gone Away Lake," a novel by Elizabeth Enright, on "The Reading Room," a new series designed to stimulate children to read. Chs. 2 and 10 from 12:30 to 1 p. m.

The Yankee-White Sox game at Yankee Stadium starts on ch. 11 at 1:25 p. m.

The Italian Grand Prix at Monza, which decides the World's Driving Championship, and the World Rowing Championships at Lucerne, Switzerland, will be presented on "ABC's Wide World of Sports" from 5 to 6:30, chs. 6 and 7.

In NCAA Football the Notre Dame - University of Oklahoma game starts on chs. 2 and 10 at 4:30. At 7:15, Jack Whitaker and Bill Malone co-host "College Football Scoreboard."

From 7:30 to 8:30 on chs. 6 and 7 "The Roy Rogers-Dale Evans Show" premieres. This is an hour-long musical variety show, a modern presentation of the "family style" entertainment of Roy and Dale. Cliff Arquette, Pat Brady and The Sons of the Pioneers are among the supporting regulars. This opening show originated at the Seattle World's Fair.

From 7:30 to 8:30 on chs. 2 and 10, "The Jackie Gleason Show: The American Scene Magazine" debuts. In the opener, Art Carney and Gleason team up in a "Honeydoers" sketch, a musical lampoon of a TV crime show will be presented and Frank Fontaine and Sue Ann Langdon will be featured in sketches.

From 7:30 to 8:30 on chs. 3 and 4, Claude Rains guest stars on "Sam Benedict." Edmond O'Brien stars. From 8:30 to 9 Abby Dalton stars on "The New York Bishop Show" in a story of a three-month wedding anniversary candlelight supper which is "crushed" by Joey's pal, Freddy (Guy Marks).

Attorneys Lawrence and Kenneth Preston (E. G. Marshall and Robert Reed) are called upon to defend the unpopular cause of a teen-aged American "Nazi" accused of first degree murder on "The Defenders," chs. 2 and 10 from 8:30 to 9:30. Dennis Hopper and Sheppard Strudwick guest star.

"Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" starring Fess Parker debuts on chs. 6 and 7 from 8:30 to 9. The comedy series concerns a freshman senator and is supposed to be a gentle spoof at legislators, not a political satire.

"Spencer Tracy, Robert Wagner, Jean Peters and Richard Widmark" star in "Broken Lance" on chs. 3 and 4 from 9 to 11, on "Saturday Night At The Movies."

Richard Boone's son, Peter, joins his father in a story on "Have Gun, Will Travel," chs. 2 and 10 from 9:30 to 10. Next, from 10 to 11, "Gunsmoke" reality has its season's premiere. Burt Reynolds joins the cast as a regular.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Saturday, September 29, 1962
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Emphasis today: discretion, tolerance and common sense. With this formula you can accomplish a lot, especially in the furtherance of new projects.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — In both business and financial matters, use only time tested procedures. Don't attempt anything risky. And DON'T try for the unobtainable.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — In discriminating now. No matter what the situation, don't judge on surface value alone. Consider first impressions, however. A sense of timing will be important.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You should have little trouble now in obtaining the attention and willing cooperation you need today. Take care in travel, romance, domestic matters.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Your outstanding personality places you "on the spot" for outstanding values native to this sign. You should accomplish a great deal.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Get things ship-shape for inspection, whether by design or for the surprise review you may undergo in the P. M. You can take the knock in fact, but remember your many assets.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Today strikes a lighter vein. Emotions may rise and fall but associations can be pleasant if you manage judiciously.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — A clean sweep is now, another break call it what you will. It is here to take, and make mighty good use of with your versatile determination and ingenuity.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — Highly favored now. Domesticity, law, art, handling others' affairs, inventions and new devices. But stress accuracy, return to action. There will be no behind because you forget the rules.

December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn) — Avoid haste now. You have plenty of time to handle responsibilities, obligations. Heed the suggestions of loved ones. They could prove extremely valuable.

January 24 to February 19 (Aquarius) — This should be a highly profitable day for those who have influential contacts. All can make some gains, however. Maintain equilibrium, please.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — You may have to slow down now. This does not mean you are stagnating. Periods of calm revive energies for sturdier action, refresh the mind, let you see things you'd otherwise miss.

YOU BORN TODAY are a fair-minded person who weighs all possibilities before making decisions, who aims to make those decisions for the good of all concerned, and a few in Libra there are excellent judges and lawyers, and your sense of humor plays no little part. You often take to the stage as a second career or as a pastime. Having a well-regulated mind, you like to find others so, are disappointed and sometimes hurt when people do not understand your methods nor genuinely yourself. Never mind. Carry on. Birthdate of Robert Lord Oliver, founder of Empire of Sri Lanka.

BEDTIME STORY

Ned always takes the children up to bed at night—it's something he wouldn't miss. What amazes our friends is the fact that they always go smilingly. No fuss, no tears.

That's Ned's doing. He has made bedtime something very special for our youngsters. After he has tucked them in, he sits down and tells them a story, sometimes pure make-believe, but often, Ned takes his bedtime stories from the Bible.

At Christmas, he tells them the story of the Little Jesus. At Easter, he points out the beauty of Spring, and speaks of the wonders of hope and faith. He keeps the stories very simple . . . and how our kids love them! When they started Church School this past year, they felt as if they had re-discovered old friends, so familiar were Biblical names and places.

Some people feel that religion is too "deep" for small children. Ned and I don't. To us, learning about our Faith is a vital part of life. We would hate to have missed it ourselves . . . and we've no intention of having our children miss it. That's why, each Sunday, you'll be seeing us in Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

East Stroudsburg State Wins 'Big One' Over West Chester In Thriller, 7-6

WEST CHESTER—It rained hard here last night for the big game of the Pennsylvania State College Conference, but the sun was shining brightly in the dressing room of East Stroudsburg State College following the Warriors' thrilling 7-6 victory over the West Chester Golden Rams.

Held scoreless for three periods by the team tabbed as the powerhouse — once again — in the PSCC, Coach Jack Gregory's squad launched a 70-yard drive early in the fourth quarter to tie the game at 6-6.

It was a splashing run through the muddy field by the Warriors' Jan Belliveau who maneuvered beautifully for a 39-yard dash into pay dirt. Jerry Washlichak booted the ball over the unrightfuls for the decisive point and the victory.

The TD drive was strictly a hard, stubborn ground attack with Toby Barkman, Gary Willhide and Belliveau handling most of the chores.

The Warriors proved a good running team, totaling 275 yards rushing. But the passing attack was held in check by the Golden Rams as Bill Lewis completed but one of seven aerials while having three passes intercepted.

The sweet smell of revenge must have drifted into the nostrils of the Warriors after the decisive 7-pointers.

West Chester was the team which deprived ESSC of enjoying an undefeated season last year in the game which cost Gregory's charges the PSCC title.

Third Win Since 1920
The victory also marked ESSC's third win over the Rams since 1920.

West Chester drew first blood, scoring a touchdown in the first quarter under a heavy, driving rain.

Halfback Jack Byrne went over for the score from the ESSC 4-yard line, climaxing a 48-yard drive by the Rams which started with an intercepted pass.

But it remained for a bad pass from center on the kick attempt for the conversion which cost the West Chester club the ballgame.

And it thus remained for the reliable foot of Waslichak to kick the winning point for the Warriors.

ESSC had one touchdown nullified by a penalty in the waning seconds of the first half. Bill Lewis completed his only pass to End Joe Heverin who was stopped on the Rams' one-yard line. On the next play, the Warriors went into the end zone but the play was called back when ESSC was penalized for having too many players on the field at the same time during the confusion.

The ball was placed back on the 5-yard line with five seconds remaining but this time the Warriors were unable to dent the end zone. Thus, the Rams carried off a 6-0 halftime advantage.

The contest was a fine exhibition of defensive play on the part of both teams, with the Warriors having slightly the better of it in this department, as witness the Rams' being forced to punt the ball nine times. ESSC punted five times.

Despite the heavy rain, more than 5,000 fans jammed the stadium to see the struggle between the two teams rated 1-2 in the PSCC.

Both clubs last night showed the fans the reasons for their high stature in the conference ranks.

S-burg Loses To Palmerton, 33-13

PALMERTON High proved the better mudders on rain-drenched Gordon Giffels Field last night, drowning Stroud Union, 33-13 before 2,000 hardy fans who braved torrential rains to watch the Lehigh Valley League clash.

It was the third straight setback for the proteges of Jerry Stulgaitis who had gone into the fray with high hopes of cracking the victory column for the first time this year.

Palmerton, rated in the pre-season polls, as just another Lehigh Valley Scholastic League entry this fall, upped its seasonal mark to 2-1.

55-Yard Run
Palmerton scored the first time they touched the ball when on the very first play Joe Vismosky on an end run romped for 55 yards into the end zone for the Blue Bombers initial score. Billy Heydt kicked for the extra point and Palmerton led 7-0.

The Mountaineers of Stroud Union were not to be denied however. Immediately following the kickoff, on the second play from scrimmage, quarterback Freddie Franz after being stopped temporarily in the backfield by Palmerton's Hal Nanovic, shook off two more would-be tacklers and scampered 62 yards into paydirt. Glen Bisbing attempted to run the ball for the extra point and failed, leaving the Mountaineers on the short end of the score 7-6.

Nothing Right
From this point on the Mountaineers could do nothing right as the multiple offense of the Palmerton ball club ground out yardage with Halfbacks Bill Carazo and Joe Vismosky doing most of the work, while workhorse Billy Heydt was being used primarily as a decoy to outsmart the Stroud Union defense.

The Blue Bombers strategy paid off, when late in the first quarter Palmerton drove 55 yards to the Stroud Union 5-yard line. On the first play of the second quarter, Greg Zern went 10 yards for the score and Palmerton led 13-6. Again Billy Heydt kicked the extra point increasing the lead to 14-6.

Stroud Union picked up eight yards on the next series of downs before Ed Nevil punted to the Palmerton 10 yard line. At this point the fans figured the Mountaineers were in good shape as Palmerton was deep in their own territory with the half coming to an end. Billy Heydt piked up eight yards to the Palmerton 18-yard line. Vismosky picked up another first down by clipping off ten more yards, thus gaining another first

Clinches Game

At this point Palmerton clinched the ball game when Bill Carazo on a dazzling broken-field run, streaked 72-yards for the Blue Bombers third TD of the game. Heydt missed the extra point so the score remained 20-6 at half-time.

In the second half the Stroudsburg rooters watched fullback Billy Heydt go to work on the Mountaineer defense as he scored the final 13 points for Palmerton. On the second series of downs, in the second half, Palmerton drove 80 yards for their fourth touchdown of the game with Heydt scoring on a four-yard plunge. This was Heydt's first touchdown of the year. Heydt's kick was wide and the score was now 26-6 in favor of Palmerton.

Palmerton's final tally of the game came when Glen Bisbing, fumbled on the Stroudsburg 45-yard line and the ball was recovered by the Blue Bombers' Bob Barrilla.

Twelve plays later, Heydt scored his second touchdown of the season and put the Bombers ahead 32-6. During this drive, the hard-running fullback picked up 32 yards. Heydt then kicked his third

Petchel Stresses Blocking Drills

PEN ARGYL — Coach Elwood Petchel this week has been putting his Green Knights through heavy blocking drills as the team prepared for its battle at Catawauqua today.

The Rough Riders of Catty are really rough this year on defense, as witness the team allowing but two first downs in their opener against Coplay, while Bangor failed to gain even one first down last week against the Catty club, winners of its first two games this season.

Speaking in tones which showed no trace of disappointment from last week's heart-breaking 13-6 loss to East Stroudsburg High School, Petchel did admit that his blocking "was not up to par" in that contest.

"Gave Me 100 Per Cent"
"But the boys gave me 100 per cent," Petchel added, "and that's all you can expect."

Roger Snyder, a fine end, is a doubtful starter for today's contest, having suffered rib and arm injuries in last Saturday's tough tussle.

Terry Miller, who played a fine game at tackle against Eastburg, will be shifted to a defensive end spot today. Replacing him at tackle will be Leslie Couch, a 6-1, 210-pounder who will give the Knights more weight up front.

Should Snyder be unable to play, either George Woolley or Andy Stracko will replace him at the defensive end slot along with Miller.

Big Guns Ready

Petchel's two big guns—Halfbacks Gary Heard and Bob Engler—are both fit and ready for action. Engler, who scored the only TD against the Cavaliers last week, has already racked up a total of 26 points so far.

Co-captains for today's battle for the Knights will be Dave Parsons, end, and Tom Knitter, guard.

The probable starting lineup for the Knights will be:

Ends—Parsons and Snyder, Woolley or Stracko; Tackles—Doliceil and Miller or Frable; Guards—Stewart and Tobias or Knitter, and Lugg at center.

The backfield will be the same which faced Eastburg. Terry Sandt will be at quarterback, Engler and Heard at halfback, and Jim Rodney at fullback.

Royals Face Notre Dame Tomorrow

ROSETO — Expectations for winning their first game of the season this year were certainly not high in the football camp of Coach Vince Shemanski's Plus X Royals.

Shemanski's two star backfield operatives, Dean Dapiewicz and Richard Fusakie, are definitely out of the lineup this week — perhaps much longer.

Both boys suffered serious head injuries in last week's game against the Marian Owls. Dapiewicz was released only yesterday, and Fusakie is still under observation at Coaldale State Hospital.

Thus it will be undermined Plus X club — which can ill afford such losses — which will face Notre Dame tomorrow afternoon.

The Royals will be seeking their first win in three games against the Notre Dame contingent. Shemanski's charges lost an 18-13 battle to Bristol in their opener and lost to Marian last week, 20-19. Marian's win over the Royals marked their first victory in the four-year series between the two clubs.

Jaipur, Kelso In Woodward

NEW YORK (AP)—Jaipur, one of the contenders for 3-year old racing honors, meets Kelso, the 1960 and 1961 horse of the year, and seven other rivals Saturday in the $100,000-added Woodward Stakes. The race features the get-away card at Aqueduct.

Jaipur, the Belmont Stakes winner, gets in carrying 120 pounds while Kelso and all the others must tote 126 pounds in the weight-for-age test of a mile and a quarter. If all nine start, the race will have a gross value of $116,200 with $75,530 for the winner.

Kelso, from Mrs. Richard C. DuPont's Bohemia Stable, won the race last year and is the 6-5 favorite to repeat.

Jaipur, who will have Willie Shoemaker in the saddle, is the 2-1 second choice.

Others in the field are Beau Purple (5-1); Nickel Boy (20-1); Guadalupe (20-1); T.V. Lark (12-1); Hitting Away (15-1); Ambipose (12-1); and Cadiz (15-1).

Buckeyes, Spartans In Season Openers

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The last two nationally ranked college teams, Ohio State and Michigan State, will open the 1962 football season Saturday but several unranked clubs are slated to hog most of the spotlight on this second big Saturday of the young campaign.

Ohio State, No. 2, is host to North Carolina, and Michigan State, No. 6, journeys to the West Coast to battle Stanford. Neither

E-Burg-Bangor Play Tonight

BANGOR — Heavy rains which inundated the playing field here for last night's scheduled game between the Bangor Slayers and the Cavaliers of East Stroudsburg High School forced postponement of the contest until tonight at 8 p.m.

Coach Jack Kist and his charges will travel to Bangor late today in hopes of keeping alive a 10 - game winning streak. Bangor is still looking for its first win of the season, losing one and tying one.

Three Matches At Harmon's

THREE matches will be played today in the Industrial Bowling League at Harmon's Recreation starting at 1 p.m.

of the Big Ten conference powers is expected to have too much difficulty.

The Buckeyes will catch the Tar Heels hoping to rebound from last week's 7-6 spanking by North Carolina State. Stanford squeezed past Tulane 6-3 in its debut and will be out to avenge a 21-3 licking the Spartans administered the Indians a year ago.

Day's Headliner
Perhaps the day's headliner is the nationally-televised (CBS, 3:30 p.m., EST) scrap between Notre Dame and Oklahoma, two ambitious teams anxious to regain some of the gridiron prestige they've lost the last two or three years.

A sellout crowd of 61,718 will storm Norman, Okla., to witness this fifth meeting between the Sooners and the Irish, who both carved 5-5 records in 1961. Oklahoma began its year last week by edging Syracuse 7-3, gaining the decision on third-string fullback Joe Don Looney's 60-yard romp with two minutes left. Notre Dame hasn't played.

Arouses Interest
Army tangles with Syracuse at New York's Polo Grounds, and this one has aroused a lot of interest. Everybody's wondering whether the Cadets are something super this year under new coach Paul Dietzel, the former three-platoon magician at Louisiana State, or whether their first victim, Wake Forest, is just so-so.

Army trampled the Deacons 40-14. Duke, the pride of the Atlantic Coast Conference, gets its second test against South Carolina at Durham, N.C. The Ducks were supposed to have come up with a powerhouse—and perhaps have—but they were upset a week ago by Southern California 14-7 in the shocker of the campaign's first big Saturday.

Aside from Ohio State and Michigan State, the top ten weekly Associated Press poll all emerged from the first week's action with 1-0 records, and with one possible exception, should post another triumph this week-end.

Missouri Exception
The exception is Missouri, ranked No. 10 after its 21-10 victory over California last week. The Tigers visit Minnesota and are slight underdogs.

Texas, No. 3, is at Texas Tech at night, Penn State, No. 4, fresh from its surprising 41-7 conquest of Navy, is host to the Air Force Academy and Louisiana State at Baton Rouge.

Mississippi, No. 7, meets Kentucky under the lights at Jackson, Miss. Georgia Tech, No. 8, invades Florida and hopes to riddle the already leaky pass defense of the Gators. Southern California, No. 9, should have a field day at Southern Methodist after that Duke surprise.

Bauer Quits A's Post

DETROIT (AP) — Hank Bauer resigned as manager of the Kansas City Athletics Friday night, effective at the end of the season Sunday.

The 40-year-old former New York Yankee outfielder announced he was quitting after waiting 90 minutes to meet owner Charles O. Finley, who was delayed in his arrival in Detroit.

Bauer said he decided finally to make his announcement without telling Finley.
"My decision to resign was prompted by the indecision of the front office to make known their managerial plans for next year," Bauer said.

Hill To Face Lakers

BRIAN HILL, West End's ace hurler who posted a 10-0 regular season mark in leading his team to first place in the Pocono Mountain Baseball League this year, will be on the mound tomorrow against Saylorsburg for the start of the best 2-of-3 championship series.

Hill, who hurled consecutive victories over Bowmanstown in the semi-finals, will be opposed by Saylorsburg's Dick Serfass or Bob Bonser. Game time is 2 p. m. on the West End field.

The Lakers of Saylorsburg downed the Stroudsburg A's in two of three contests to gain entry to the finals against the 1961 defending champions.

Twins Clinch Tie For 2nd; Beat Orioles

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Twins Friday clinched at least a tie for second place in the American League by outlasting Baltimore 11-5 with a 17th-inning rally.

The win put the Twins three games ahead of the Los Angeles Angels. Minnesota has two games remaining here with the Orioles, while the Angels, who had a doubleheader with Cleveland rained out, now have twin bills set with the Indians Saturday and Sunday.

Home runs — Baltimore, Adair (11), Williams (1), Minnesota, Allison (29).

Olympic Games Are Up For Grabs

By TED SMITHS
Associated Press Sports Editor
CHICAGO (AP) — The 1968 Olympic Games, probably the greatest of all prestige sports events, are up for grabs.

Russia failed to put in a bid, to the great surprise of most observers, when the International Olympic Committee met in Moscow several months ago. It had been assumed the meeting would pave the way for awarding the Games to the Soviets.

Decide Next Month
The decision on the site must be made next month when the IOC meets in Nairobi, Kenya, Africa.

At least seven American cities are considering making a bid, but by Olympic rules the United States Olympic Committee must decide on only one and endorse its invitation.

Avery Brundage, international Olympic president, said that Portland, Ore., San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and New York are in the running.

'Golf Festival' Set At Shawnee

THE ANNUAL Shawnee "Festival of Golf" 54-hole tournament of foursome team event starts Monday at Shawnee Inn and Country Club with 20 teams vying for the championship.

With the teams will be some prominent professionals with Al Houghton, vice president of the Professional Golfers' Assn., pro at the Prince George's Country Club of Maryland, in the van.

Other professionals include Johnny Bass, of Pine Ridge Golf Club; Dick Bortwick, Hamilton Golf and Country Club, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada; Charles Herling, Fountain Head C. C.; Leo Kernan, Princess Anne C. C.; T. R. Schleicher, former playing pro with General Eisenhower at Gettysburg, now with the Chertwell Golf & C. C., Washington, and Bill Strausbaugh, of the Turf Valley C. C.

Cook-out Tomorrow
Festivities will start tomorrow with a two-light golf tournament followed by a cook-out on the island.

The first round of the 54-holes tournament will be played Monday on Tuesday and Wednesday.

All play will begin with the shotgun start, instituted in this area by Jack White, head pro at Shawnee, with the teams starting simultaneously on all the holes with the firing of an aerial bomb.

Prizes will be awarded at the annual dinner-dance Wednesday night.

Out Of Lineup

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mike Ruggieri, veteran wingback, will miss Penn's football opener with Lafayette today. Coach John Stegman says Ruggieri's ankle injury has been slow to respond to treatment.

Eager For Games

Mexico City and Buenos Aires are among the foreign cities eager to get the 1968 Games.

Mexico City can point to the 1955 Pan-American Games as proof of its ability to stage a big show, as well as demonstrating that the 13 1/2 mile altitude does not materially hurt performances.

The Olympic Games in recent years have become a vast business enterprise with cities such as Rome, where the 1960 Games were held, and Tokyo, where the 1964 Games will be staged, spending enormous amounts of money to stage them.

Eagles Meet Cleveland Tomorrow

PHILADELPHIA'S frustrated Eagles and Cleveland's stunned Browns rebound against each other tomorrow afternoon at Franklin Field. The 1:35 p.m. (E.D.T.) kickoff will find the aroused Eagles battling for their first win in three games and the Browns seeking their second after losing a 17-16 shocker last Sunday to Washington. The game will be broadcast over the Eagles' radio network and televised back to the Cleveland area by CBS.

A sell-out house of 60,671 — third straight — will sit in for the proceedings, most of them hoping that the Eagles have somewhere found a scoring punch and at the same time will be able to stop the bullish rushes of the likes of Jimmy Brown, Tom Wilson and company. Last week, in losing to New York (29-13) the Birds flew well over most of the field but lacked the key punch, scoring one TD, although gaining 418 yards.

The locals contained the Giants' runners, permitting only 87 yards, but the job is tougher today with the aforementioned backs banging away. Then, too, they'll have to cope with Jim Nowinski's aerial bombing.

But head coach Nick Skorich and his minions appeared to have recovered from last Sunday's frustrating afternoon and Skorich says all he hopes is that the Birds play as well as they did against New York and getting more power in scoring territory.

State Ready For AF

UNIVERSITY PARK — Penn State, off to an impressive start in defense of its Eastern championship, will entertain Air Force today in a Band Day battle.

Coach Rip Engle's Nittany Lions, 4-7 victors over Navy in their opener, will face an Air Force team which ran and passed almost at will in its 34-0 triumph over Colorado State.

State coach Frank Patrick scouted Air Force against Colorado State, and wants that Terry Isaacson is one of the best running quarterbacks the Lions will face this season.

Master Of Option

"He's a master of the option," Patrick said, "and loves to run with that football. He seldom passed against Colorado State, but he didn't have to."

A crowd of more than 40,000 is expected for the game. That figure includes more than 5,000 high school youngsters who'll participate in State's 13th annual Band Day. They'll represent 60 high school bands from 25 Pennsylvania counties.

Saturday's will be the first — and only scheduled — meeting between Penn State and Air Force. Following Saturday's clash, State will hit the road for assignments at Rice and Army, returning home Oct. 20 for a Homecoming game against Syracuse.

Buccaneers To Play At Pretzel Bowl

READING — The Buccaneers, three-time national champion VFW drum and bugle corps, will add their talents to the 12th annual Shrine Pretzel Bowl pageant in Albright College Stadium Saturday afternoon, Oct. 13.

Leon S. Blimline, managing director of the charity game, sponsored by Rajah Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, said the Buccaneers appeared in the bowl last year and have agreed to return this year for a demonstration of their form.

The Buccaneers copped their most recent national honors in Minneapolis. In 1961 the Buccaneers won the national Veterans of Foreign Wars drum and bugle corps senior honors in Miami, Fla., and in 1960, copped the first award in Detroit.

PREVIEW: 1963

Come to the most Care-Free State!

The "Care-Free State" is the happy and exclusive province of 1963 Ford owners. These new Fords are made with such precision and care . . . and equipped with so many amazing, money-saving features . . . that driving becomes more fun than you ever thought possible. • Routine maintenance— and maintenance costs — on any 1963 Ford is reduced to a bare minimum. The typical Ford owner will have to make just two service stops a year—or once every 6,000 miles. • You can reach the most Care-Free State in 44 lively new Ford models—including five basic sizes — and an almost endless combination of body styles and optional equipment. • And, of course, no picture can show you how much these 1963 Fords surpass even the finest Fords of the past. You have to take the wheel of your favorite . . . see how it handles . . . how it rides . . . how it accelerates . . . how it brakes . . . and how little it costs. • Let us show you—and your family—the way to the most "Care-Free State" today!

The new Super-Torque
Galaxie 500 4-door hardtop

The car that reached up to Thunderbird's standards for beauty and power, now captures the velvet smoothness of Thunderbird's ride. And with it's new suspension Galaxie holds its smooth ride under the toughest driving conditions. Galaxie moves swiftly, quietly, smoothly with the pounce and power of a mountain lion. Galaxie is as beautiful to look at as it is to drive!

Here comes care-free fun in a
Ford Country Squire station wagon!

Country Squire is the top offering in Ford's 1963 station wagon line. A nine-passenger car, the Country Squire features 36,000-mile major lubrication intervals, optional bucket seats, and the only forward-facing third seat in the low-priced field. It's tailgate opening is one of the widest in the industry — more than 50 inches! Go big! Hitch your wagon to a star—Galaxie Country Squire!

In a league all by itself . . .
Fairlane 500 4-door sedan!

If you're tempted by big-car luxury on the one hand and compact economy on the other, the middleweight Ford Fairlane is right down your alley. Choose from a full line of nine exciting models — including two brand-new hardtops and three new wagons. Fairlane (like all 1963 Fords) needs only two routine service stops a year . . . or one every 6000 miles!

Falcon Futura Convertible . . .
for the young at heart!

This newest Falcon model for 1963 blends sports car size with a full range of performance options. Choose from either divan or bucket front seats, six different performance packages, including 3- or 4-speed manual transmissions. A power-operated top and self-adjusting brakes are standard equipment.

Christine Named Chairman Of County Scranton Unit

ATTY. Elmer D. Christine, of Stroudsburg has been named chairman of the Monroe County Citizens for Scranton-Van Zandt, it was announced yesterday by W. Thacher Longstreth, Eastern Pennsylvania Chairman of the Citizens organization.

In announcing Christine's appointment, Longstreth said, "Monroe County, with its large number of independent-minded voters, is one of the prime areas in the state where a citizens effort can be most helpful in supplementing the work of the regular Republican organization. I am pleased that the campaign to enlist the support of independents, discerning Democrats, and non-partisans for Bill Scranton for Governor and Jimmie Van Zandt for U. S. Senator will be led by Mr. Christine. His background, experience, activities in the business and civic life of the community, and ability make him an ideal choice for this important post."

Christine graduated from Washington and Jefferson College and the Temple University School of Law. Prior to entering the U. S. Navy in 1943, he was appointed Special Deputy Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Having served as District Attorney of Monroe County from 1952 to 1956, Christine was also the Pennsylvania State Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars from 1952 to 1954 and the National Judge Advocate of the Veterans of Foreign Wars from 1954 to 1955.

The attorney is a member of the bar of the Supreme and Superior Courts of Pennsylvania and the Monroe County Courts, the Pennsylvania Bar Association, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, Elks, Eagles and Masons.

He is presently serving as President of the Grace Lutheran Church Council and is a member of the Board of Directors of East Stroudsburg National Bank. Married to the former Ada Gregory Miller and the father of six children, Christine resides at 15 Smith Street, East Stroudsburg.

Vacation Group Steps Up Program

IN A REPORT to the general membership of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau made at the annual report meeting by William J. Altier, who has been re-elected as president for an unprecedented fifth term, it was announced that the mountain resort owners association will spend $118,000 for operating and promotion expenses in 1962 and will increase this figure to $150,000 for the following year.

Continuing, Altier stated that other competing resort areas both here and abroad, were all increasing their promotion activities and in order to increase advertising and publicity for the Pocono area a 60 percent increase in membership dues would be necessary.

In surveying the results of the past year, Altier indicated that 36,500 mail inquiries had been received by the Vacation Bureau office from January 1962 to August 1962 for an increase of 6 percent over the same period a year ago.

Furthermore, records show that the number of tourists stopping for information at the Delaware Water Gap Booth in 1962 was 7,686, while only 5,280 drivers used the facilities in 1961.

Other evidences of growth are shown by the acquisition of 23 new members and the addition of a new membership classification for restaurateurs.

Introduced to the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau was John E. Calhoun, newly appointed Executive Secretary, a former Lt. Commander in the U. S. Navy, who specializes in office management and personnel supervision.

Presented also were the 1962-63 officers of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau who in addition to Altier are Eric Schuchard, first vice president; Tom Robinson, second vice president; J. W. Dunlop, treasurer.

Effective this month the Vacation Bureau will have a new location, 1004 Main St., Stroudsburg.

THE VALIANT, Chrysler Corporation's economy compact, is fully new for 1963. It has undergone its first major styling change since its introduction in the fall of 1959. It is two inches longer and is available for the first time as a convertible. A large back window extends down to the belt line to provide superior rearward vision. Improvements include finer interiors in all models, added corrosion resistance, better ventilation at traffic speeds. Above is the V-200 4-door sedan; below, the Signet 200 two-door hardtop. The new Valiants will be on display at Scheller and Kitchen, 1015 W. Main St., Stroudsburg on Wednesday, October 3.

Utility Is Honored For Safety

THE Pennsylvania Power & Light Company was awarded two certificates for safety yesterday at the 55th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Electric Association in Pittsburgh.

The awards were for best results in the prevention of disabling electric shock and burn accidents among its employees as well as for more than 1,700,000 man-hours without a lost-time accident.

The P.E.A. safety contest is conducted annually by the Accident Prevention Committee of the Association.

A new all-time safety record was established by the P.E.A. companies during the past year in compiling 52,920,833 man-hours of work with only 131 accidents. The low accident frequency rate of 2.48 is more than 50 percent better than that compiled by all utilities in the United States during the year. Pacing this safety achievement were eight companies, including PP&L, among the Association's 20 members.
